KNOCKERS AND FALSE
FRIENDS

Of course in every town there are the pessimists and the knockers. They usually form a small but noisy and mouthy minority. They seek to make up by volume of noise what they lack in numbers. Like the Irishman's celebrated flea they are always with us. They are disappointed in advance, their opposition is counted upon, and it only spurs real men and women on to renewed effort to achieve the goal in sight.

The professional town knocker is not a very serious liability. But the professional town boaster, the men who have prospered with the town and who are willing to tell the world that they have and that they live in the best town on earth, but who have a cyclone cellar when the time comes to work and to give or to invest with the town's future as security; the men who grow selfish with riches, who, having "gotten theirs" see no advantage in helping out that their town may grow and prosper, these are the men who are a real detriment to a community that wishes to expand. The knocker plays in the open. The loud protesting friend who fails at the critical moment, he is the man whose backsliding cannot be reckoned with in advance. Is it not so?

We have not seen the record of subscriptions to the Housing Corporation stock and so we do not know who is who. But we wonder how many men counted upon to help out failed in the emergency? Were you one of them my dear reader? If you have not responded do you not feel just a little bit ashamed of yourself this evening? Does it not rather give you an uncomfortable feeling to realize that you failed the town when her good name and pledged word were at stake, failed a town that had always been good to you?

Of course it is not too late. The books are still open, and you ought to save yourself reproach by your own conscience by taking at least one share.

From a news article in Thursday's Times on the progress of the Housing Corporation campaign we take this paragraph:

"Three voluntary subscriptions were received at the Chamber of Commerce offices Thursday. All were from women."

We want the men of Portsmouth, the men who could but wouldn't, to read and reflect. We'll do the weeping for them.

One of the so-called reasons advanced by some for refusing to aid in the Housing campaign is that there is an enormous amount of building going on here. True. But what kind of building? Why every house going up is valued at from $5,000 to $10,000, and will rent at from $5 to $60 per month. There is demand for this grade of houses, but what the Housing Corporation designs to do, what is asked to do by the Wheeling Steel Corporation is to build inexpensive, four and five room houses, that may be rented to a certain class of workmen required in the Wire and Rod mill. This class of houses is not being built by our estate men. None of them.

Donahey In Special Message To Ohio Legislature Scores Utilities Commission

COLUMBUS, O., March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Advising the general assembly of his action in requesting the resignations of State Utilities Commissioners George T. Peck and Frank B. Muller, Governor Donahey today asked that the senate approve or reject the appointment of William A. Hopkins, of Cincinnati, to the commission as its Democratic member.

The resignations of the two Republican members, the governor's message said, were asked "in pursuance of my pledge to the people" and because their "policies have been and may be expected to remain out of harmony with my purpose to reorganize the commission so that it may give a square deal to both citizen and utility."

The commission as now constituted "and its regulation of public utilities in recent years, has paralyzed municipal control and reduced many of our cities to a condition of helplessness or deadly indifference," the governor's message declared. It expressed the hope that the two Republican commissioners "may be public-spirited enough to relinquish their position in the interest of the people of Ohio, who by reason of rate-making decisions in recent years, have lost confidence in their commission as now constituted."

The Democratic Commissioner, Charles C. Marshall, whose term expired February 1, is still in office because of the failure of the senate to concur in the appointment of Mr. Hopkins, made three weeks ago. The governor directed attention to the fact that "until the senate confirms the appointment, the present governor cannot have representation on the commission or be held responsible for any acts of the commission."

He added:

"The appointment of a member of the public utilities commission to fill an expired term was the first step available to me in my efforts to reorganize the present commission as I had promised the people I would attempt to do."

"It is my purpose to carry out this pledge just as far as it is humanly possible for me to do. The senate has so far blocked my efforts to even place one new member on the utilities commission. In other words, the senate has presumed to become the appointing power, whereas the law places this in the governor's hands."

CHANCELLOR CUNO, OF GERMANY, WHO IN AN EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW GIVEN WILLIAM PHILLIP SIMMS FOR NEA SERVICE, CHARGES FRANCE WITH TENDS TO DISMEMBER GERMANY.

Coaches Derailed When Train Hits Auto

COLUMBUS, O., March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Six persons are dead and thirteen are in hospitals more or less seriously injured as a result of the wrecking of west-bound passenger train Number 11, en route from Boston to Cincinnati on the Big Four Railroad, just north of here this morning.

The train, one hour late, and traveling at a high rate of speed, struck an automobile at a grade crossing just north of the city. The automobile was demolished and the engine and one car left the tracks when the engineer, Andrew Green, applied the air brakes. The train plowed along the right of way for almost a hundred yards and the engine and four of the steel Pullman cars were piled up along the right of way. The three occupants of the automobile, Mrs. F. S. Hemminger, of Columbus, and her two children were instantly killed. The others dead included two of the train crew, Earl Wilson, fireman, of Columbus, and J. W. Klee, a fireman from Cleveland, and Horace Holbrook, a Warren, Ohio, publisher.

While the number of injured in local hospitals was only 13, a number of other persons were badly shaken up. They received surgical attention at the scene of the wreck and were brought to Columbus on a relief train and continued their journeys. The Big Four right of way was not expected to be cleared until night, while traffic was interrupted for a time on the Pennsylvania tracks, which are adjacent at the point of the wreck.

The engine left the tracks and turned over in a ditch, four Pullman sleepers piling on top of it.

All of the cars in the train with the exception of a dining car, left the track.

The train, due in Columbus at 7:50 o'clock was more than an hour late and was running at an estimated speed of 65 or 70 miles an hour. It is one of the heaviest and fastest trains operated by the Big Four. The automobile was struck at Oakland Park avenue crossing, the wreckage piling up at the North Broadway crossing.

THE DEAD

The known dead are:

Earl L. Wilson, fireman, of Columbus.
J. W. Klee, fireman, of Cleveland.
Horace Holbrook, Warren, Ohio, Publisher.
Mrs. Frank S. Hemminger, of Columbus, wife of an attorney, who was driving the automobile, that was struck.
Robert Hemminger, aged five, her son.
Infant Hemminger.

THE INJURED

Among those reported injured were:

Andrew Green, Cleveland, engineer, scalded.
Miss Mary Catherine Johnson, Columbus.
C. L. Siebert, fireman, of Cincinnati, scalded.
Dorothy Coppock, Greenfield, Ohio, arm injured.
S. L. Nelson, Bowdoin, Maine, bruised.
Helen Wheeler, Mount Pleasant, Tenn.
Robert Henderson, negro, Chattanooga, Tenn., fatally injured.
W. E. Green, Troy, N. Y., scalp wound.
F. H. Hiles, 1112 Chatham Street, Cincinnati.
Captain J. E. Cowling, of the 25th Infantry, Fort Ontario, Oswego, N. Y., home address Brownsville, Texas.
C. D. Lewis, Boston.
Venita Quackenbush, of Schenectady, N. Y.
Mary O'Hara, Syracuse, N. Y.
F. T. Belcher, Cleveland, jugglegamester, slight cuts on head and face.

Al. Thomas, negro porter, in charge of Club Car, leg injured.

The engine struck the automobile at Oakland Park avenue, where the view to the north, the direction from which the train was coming, was obscured by the office building of the Clintonville Lumber Company. The automobile, which was almost across the tracks, was carried for a distance of 100 yards and its occupants killed by the crash, were scattered along the tracks, the two children being thrown clear shortly after the impact, and the mother being carried an entire city block. Her body was found in a mass of twisted wreckage in front of the locomotive.

The engine and at least one of the steel Pullman cars of which the train was entirely composed, left the rails immediately after the crash, and plowed along through the cross ties until the engine and four of the coaches toppled over along the right of way. The engine was almost demolished and one of the coaches was tossed across the right of way of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which is adjacent to the Big Four tracks.

According to Grover DeLong and Walter Epps, employees of the lumber company, the automobile which was equipped with side curtains, started across the tracks, the driver apparently not seeing the train. A deafening crash followed and the train passed by in a cloud of dust and flying splinters.

"We did not realize what had happened," DeLong said. "We were unloading a car of lumber and dropped our work and ran down the track. We found the Hemminger boy dead about fifty yards from the crossing. The girl was farther along. We found Mrs. Hemminger under the pilot of the engine."

"When we reached the coaches which had overturned, people were crawling out like ants and we immediately started to bring out the seriously injured. It all happened so quickly though that I can scarcely remember what happened."

The wreck occurred shortly before nine a. m. and it was only a few minutes later when all available aid had been summoned. The dead.

Cuno Says France Invaded Ruhr To Cut Up Germany

BY WILLIAM PHILLIP SIMMS
Radiogram to NEA Service and The Portsmouth Daily Times. Copyright, 1923 by NEA Service, Inc., in United States and all foreign countries having copyright laws. Reproduction is prohibited.

BERLIN, March 30.—In an exclusive interview given the writer in Wilhelmstrasse, Chancellor Cuno of Germany openly charged France with the dismemberment of Germany and the ruin of the German people.

If France accomplishes her purposes, according to Cuno, it will mean disaster and peacelessness for Europe and unrest for the whole world.

The German chancellor clearly made a bid for international mediation. He authorized the following statement:

"Throughout the months of the Ruhr invasion Germany and the whole world has been waiting for France to show the ultimate aims of her action."

"That she is not bent on reparations is shown by the universal opinion shared by the allies—that the invasion diminishes the means to get reparations."

"But at last one of France's most astute politicians, M. L. Loucheur, (whose work as minister for the liberated territories has engaged universal attention) in a public speech has given a hint of the French motives."

"He proposed to tear the Rhenish zone definitely from Prussia. He further proposed to 'emancipate' these German provinces and to make an artificial political body of them."

"I am grateful to Loucheur. He specifically proclaimed what Germany by bitter experience has known for centuries to be French policy: namely, dismemberment of Germany."

"There's but one answer to this French challenge: The Rhenish zone must remain an integral part of Prussia."

"We cannot permit France to interfere with the sovereign rights of this country."

"The dismemberment of Germany would mean not only the ruin of the German people but disaster and peacelessness to Europe and unrest for the whole world."

"For this reason the French policy of political aggression with so-called sanctions can no longer be regarded as a Franco-German matter. French intentions of the dismemberment of Germany become more and more an international danger and concern the peaceful development of the entire world."

Leaps Off High Bridge

CLEVELAND, O., March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—A girl about 23 years old, leaped 125 feet to her death from the guard rail of the Rocky river bridge this morning. Two men saw her climb the rail and jump. The body landed on the rocky ground close to the river bank. The body gave evidence that death had been instantaneous. The only marks of identification found in the woman's possession were the initials "R. F. to M. B." found inside a ring she wore.

The body later was identified as that of Mrs. Margaret Paulhaber, mother of three small children. The identification was made by her husband, Robert Paulhaber, who said his wife had disappeared from their home early this morning. Mrs. Paulhaber had been in poor health for several months, and was released from a hospital only recently after a complete nervous breakdown, according to her mother.

Sentenced To The Chair

Breaks World Speed Record; Traveled 281.4 Miles An Hour

DAYTON, O., March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Lieutenant Lester J. Maitland, United States Army aviator, winner of second place in the Pulitzer Cup Races at Detroit last fall today will be declared holder of the world's airplane speed record, accomplished yesterday when he piloted a Curtiss racing plane over a one kilometer course four times at an average speed of approximately 243 miles an hour. The official speed will be announced later today.

Maitland's maximum speed for one trip across the course was 281.4 miles an hour, the fastest any human being has ever traveled, according to officials of the United States Army Air Service connection with McCook and Willow Wright fields here, in attaining this speed he was aided by the wind.

The record made by Maitland bests the previous record of 233.81 miles per hour held by Sadié LeConte, of France. As an official of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, Orville Wright, co-inventor of the airplane, is expected to certify Maitland's record today. The speed trials were held over the same field on which the Wright Brothers perfected the first heavier-than-air machine.

Shortly before Maitland established his record, Lieutenant R. J. Maughan, winner of the Pulitzer races last fall established a record better than that of LeConte, when he averaged 236.5 miles an hour in four laps.

A new propeller, designed and built at McCook Field is said to be responsible in part for the record. Speed trials in the opinion of many persons interested in aviation are when they will attempt to establish the most spectacular of all flying. Speed planes, due to the smallness of the wing spread and elimination of all possible resistance are difficult to control. In making ready for a dash across the course, the aviators ascended to an altitude of several thousand feet. Coming out of the sky in an almost perpendicular dive they leveled off about 50 feet above the ground, maintaining this altitude for the length of the course. By zooming they soon gain altitude and prepare for another dive and dash across the tapes. Both aviators experienced difficulty in landing their planes yesterday.

The lieutenants are from Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas, and will remain in Dayton until next week.

Bandit Kills Paymaster

NEW YORK, March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—A lone robber today shot and killed Thomas R. Phillips, paymaster for the Durum Construction Company in Long Island City, threw powder into the eyes of John G. Cain, superintendent of the company, and escaped in an automobile with $4,000. Four men were in the waiting motor car.

Phillips had just obtained the money from a bank to pay off the thirty men employed on a warehouse job. Cain accompanied him as a guard.

Mrs. Margaret Austin, passing in an automobile, witnessed the hold up, and went for a policeman. When they returned they found Phillips dead. The section in which the robbery occurred is perhaps the busiest point in Long Island City. Scores of trucks were parked nearby but the chauffeurs also were at lunch.

"No, no shooting," replied Mrs. Bergdoll. "Just behind the bars where he belongs."

NOW ENJOYS GOOD HEALTH AFTER SEVERE ILLNESS

MRS. MARTHA GINDER, COLUMBUS.

Columbus Woman Expresses Her Gratitude for the Prompt Relief Kadiok Gave Her

Mrs. Martha Ginder, a well-known resident of Columbus, who conducts a rooming house at 457 E. Rich St., is another grateful user of Kadiok. She says: "Several times during the past few months I have had severe attacks of stomach trouble—I had no desire for food as I dreaded the distressing pains which I suffered after eating. I had severe pains across my back and quite often my feet, limbs and hands would become very much swollen; I was also in a very nervous condition and no matter how tired I might be, I failed to sleep well at night. I heard about Kadiok and started taking it a few weeks ago; it helped me after a few days and now I am feeling fine; I have no further attacks of stomach trouble and the swelling in my limbs has passed away; I sleep soundly at night and get up rested in the morning. Kadiok is a wonderfully good medicine and I am deeply grateful for the way it has helped me."

Kadiok can be obtained in Portsmouth at Fisher & Streich's Drug Store.—Advertisement.

cently resigned, was not brought up last night, but will come up at the regular meeting Wednesday night, it was indicated by members.

Henry Chi, Jr., Democrat, and Merle O. Ludlum, Republican, have been nominated for the position, but it was indicated last night that another nomination might be made, although no member would talk on the subject for publication.

The Building Code

The fire chief's resignation having been reconsidered, Chief Leedom and council discussed the advisability of revising the building code to "put teeth in the measure" as some members said. Chief Leedom indicated that this was necessary to allow him to properly enforce the building laws, which, he said, are intended to reduce fire risks.

Skin Ablaze with Eczema

Constant Itching Almost Unbearable!

We know there is one thing that gives eczema, and that is more red blood cells! S. S. S. builds them by the million! You can increase your red blood cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist.

exist. We know that as blood-cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. But are facts! But have you eczema sufferers, ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it! Skin eruptions, eczema with all its fiery, skin-digging torture and its soul-testing, unrelenting itching, pimples, blackheads and boils, they all pack up and go, when the tide of blood-cells begins to roll in! Blood-cells are the fighting-giants of nature! S. S. S. builds them by the million! It has been doing it since 1891! S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, blood-cleansers and body-builders known to us mortals! When you put these facts together, then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like a sin than a disease. Mrs. Arthur M. Smith, Pearl St., Newark, Ohio, writes: "My little girl had a very bad case of eczema. She began taking S. S. S. and in a few days it was all over. I tell my friends what a good medicine it is. I cannot talk too much about it, for I know it is O. K."

Here is your opportunity. S. S. S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S. S. S. does build red blood-cells, it cures rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

Guimares Says He Met Daugherty At Cabaret

NEW YORK, March 30.—Alfred Guimares, intimate friend of Dorothy Keenan, slain model, broke the silence he has kept before newspapermen and said that either District Attorney Peora or Draper M. Daugherty, son of Attorney General Daugherty, was in error in saying that Daugherty was unacquainted with him.

Mr. Peora yesterday interviewed Daugherty as to his relations with Miss Keenan, with a view to ascertaining who the man was who tried to blackmail him into giving aid in obtaining a post in the United States Department of Justice under threats of disclosing his acquaintance with the slain girl. Later he quoted Daugherty as saying he had never met Guimares.

Guimares, talking freely after he had been arraigned on a charge of violating the law against firearms and released in $2,500 bail, said he had been introduced to Daugherty in a cabaret by Miss Keenan.

"We had a brief chat," he said, "and I left soon afterward. Further than that I know nothing of the matter."

To Recall Witnesses.

Assistant District Attorney Peora announced today that he would begin soon to re-examine witnesses in the Dorothy Keenan case.

At the same time Mr. Peora announced that he had asked the police to obtain various letters found in the safety deposit box rented by the slain model, and taken over by her mother under order from the surrogate's court. Examination of these letters, the prosecutor believes, may strengthen his theory that a ring of blackmailers used the girl as a decoy and killed her after she had refused to join a plot to "shake down" her admirers.

Killings Blackmail Story.

Those who have been asked to call at the District Attorney's office include the four members of the model's family, her maid, the elevator attendant in the West 57th street apartment house where she lived, and was electrocuted, and Albert B. Guimares, one of her admirers.

Guimares, after he had been held on $2,500 bail on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, ridiculed the theory that the girl had been slain by conspirators thwarted in an effort to blackmail J. K. Mitchell, wealthy Philadelphian.

Mr. Peora indicated that Major Draper M. Daugherty, quizzed yesterday concerning a threat of blackmail made against him because of his friendship with the model, might be revealed.

It was understood that Mitchell, the mysterious "Mr. Marshall" and John H. Jackson his equally mysterious "secretary," who for nine days masqueraded under the alias of "Wilson," also would be re-examined tomorrow or Saturday. It was said Mitchell would be questioned regarding certain discrepancies in his statement as to how and when the model learned his real name.

Wrist Broken

Calvin Johnson, brick mason of Market street, near Third, saved himself from probably serious injuries yesterday afternoon when he grabbed hold of the edge of a barn roof and held tightly when a ladder fell from under him. He was repairing a chimney when the ladder slipped from under him. Johnson held to the roof's edge until help arrived. Later it was found that a small bone in his right wrist was broken by the strain placed on his arm.

Went After Information

Mayor W. N. Gableman, Solicitor Sherrard M. Johnson and Councilmen Edward Westphal and C. C. Harr have returned from Columbus where they went to secure information in respect to the plan used by that municipality in building trunk line sewers under the assessment-for-benefits system.

The officials obtained much valuable data which will aid them in working out the financial end of the sewer construction program in this city. They had no intention of asking the State Industrial Commission to buy the street improvement bonds authorized by council to provide funds to pay the cost of resurfacing Second, Eleventh and Gallia streets. These bonds are not ready to be sold here and when they are they will not be taken by the sinking fund, it is said.

At its regular meeting held Thursday night, River City Aerie Eagles perfected plans to hold a big initiation on May 12 in honor of Frank B. Pratt, former Portsmouth man, now a citizen of Ironton, who was the first worthy President of the localerie. Arrangements are under way to stage a special drive for new members and it is hoped to admit a class of 150 candidates at the time indicated.

have come forward with a suggestion that they will undertake to build the required number. The Housing Corporation is designed to meet a specific condition and that is why you are asked to help out by taking whatever amount of stock you can afford to take.

Of course we know that you have been "driven" to death and we quite agree with you that the thing has been somewhat overworked. Why then are we devoting so much space and in such deadly earnest in this Housing Campaign? We will tell you. We regard this as the most important matter that has come up, in so far as it affects the future welfare and growth of Portsmouth, since the great campaigns were staged more than twenty years ago to secure the Norfolk and Western Terminals, help rebuild the Breese Manufacturing plant and induce the Whitaker-Glessner Company, as it was then, to light the fires in our abandoned steel mill.

We know that Portsmouth is growing into a real city. We are at the peak of the hill that separates us from a provincial small city and a real, live, up-to-date city whose growth, if unhindered, will be both rapid and marvelous. For ourselves we want to see Portsmouth pass the One Hundred Thousand mark before we too, "pass."

We believe our dreams and hopes will come true. And we want you to dream likewise, and to help with all your might and main that our mutual hopes will be realized.

We leave it to you. Will you not do your part? Will you not remember that this is a good old town, and that you owe it much? That is all. The rest is with you.

Harding

as a reflection on his judgment. Mr. Daugherty is a sick man and the relationship between him and the president is so close that if Mr. Harding were to feel that the issuance of the statement was a mistake he would be the last man in the world to let that fact get publicly. The president is said to have been distressed by the impression of disagreement between him and Mr. Daugherty which some published reports gave and it would not be surprising if in some way without commenting on the Miami statement about his candidacy he gave public evidence of his continued confidence in the attorney general.

The president's viewpoint on the wisdom of the statement about his candidacy has not been intentionally disclosed. It is true that a few callers outside of the presidential party have talked politics with him and at least one is said to have commented on the impression the Daugherty announcement had created. Mr. Harding, of course, realizes that any statement concerning his candidacy, no matter how carefully phrased, would be the subject of differing opinions, for no two strategists are apt to agree on the question of whether the announcement was or was not inopportune.

Believe President Would Not Have Favored Announcement

It is safe to say that had the president been consulted in advance, he probably would have argued against it. But he has so long been accustomed to leaning on the advice of Harry Daugherty, and the political strategy of the latter has so often proved in the end to have been wise that the president isn't likely to argue the merits of the question, now that the die has been cast.

Politics have in fact crept into the presidential vacation a little more than anybody intended. Even the attorney general himself did not look for prolonged discussion and had he had any idea of the stir the Miami statement would have, he might have withheld it for a time at least. Mr. Daugherty thought the announcement would be taken as his own personal prediction for he warned the newspapermen he wasn't talking for the president.

Pre-Convention Campaign Appears To Be Moving

But the press far and wide has taken it up and the wheels of the pre-convention campaign appear to be moving, judging by the letters and telegrams from Republican leaders offering to begin work at once.

Something may have to be done to check this activity or it may prove too great a tax on the time of the president's associates and may even tend to draw Mr. Harding into the maelstrom of pre-convention politics a whole year in advance of the convention itself.

Mr. Daugherty Spoke The Truth

Several facts are clear, however. One is that Mr. Daugherty spoke the truth, the president is a candidate for re-nomination. His friends are already getting busy in his behalf. He himself never liked to be an avowed candidate for anything, preferring to remain in the background. He probably will avoid doing anything that would put him in the apparent position of seeking a second term. The question of whether Attorney General Daugherty acted wisely or unwisely will be swallowed up in the greater question of preparing in the next few weeks a defense of the administration record thus far and a plan for Republican solidarity so that the next congress can be one of Republican achievement instead of Republican insolvency.

FOREST FIRES MENACE WEST SIDE PROPERTY

Forest fires on the West Side the last couple of days have destroyed hundreds of acres of young timber and caused forest patrolmen and farmers considerable work. The most serious of the fires started Wednesday night back of Nace's Run, on the West Side, about nine miles from Portsmouth, and is thought to have been started by fox hunters. It burned until about four o'clock this morning, when it was finally extinguished, after about 1,000 acres had been damaged. Twenty men fought the fire from seven o'clock Thursday night to four o'clock Friday morning.

Farmers noticed clouds of smoke arising from the hills late Wednesday, but no attention was paid to the fire at the time as it was thought to be brush burning. Early last evening the smoke clouds increased and reports of serious forest fire reached the residents along the Buena Vista pike.

Michael Swearingin, leader of the forest fighters in that community, was ill and could not summon a crew, but J. E. Wright and Roy Cunningham, who were notified, soon enlisted the aid of a number of farmers who lost no time in getting into the fire zone. The flames had gained great headway and it was hard to stop them. The closest building to the fire was the Michael Swearingin barn. By backing the fire was finally extinguished.

The fire was on hill land owned by Michael and Ira Swearingin, Al Turner, Edward Cunningham and Simon Labold. The flames were kept from eating their way into the Theodore Roosevelt Game Refuge.

Fire Warden Frank Voorhees and Assistant Forester R. E. Leete of this city worked with the men in combating the fire. Mr. Leete, who arrived home about nine o'clock from a forest fire near Otway, left at once to join the fire fighters on the West Side.

Wednesday a fire said to have been started by persons burning tobacco beds, spread over about 200 acres of hill land back of McAtree, on the West Side, about twelve miles from Portsmouth. A number of men of that section fought the fire until it was extinguished late Wednesday.

Fanned by a brisk breeze, a forest fire yesterday afternoon in the vicinity of Otway destroyed about sixty acres of young hardwoods from five to ten years old.

Deputy Fire Warden Thomas Liston of Otway and eight helpers were soon on the job and their forces were a little later augmented by Assistant Forester Leete and Ranger Carlos Graham and three men, who discovered the smoke while planting trees on the state forest at Lombardville.

The fire fighters were crowded hard by the rapidly advancing flames which occasionally flared up 20 or 30 feet in the air, but by persistent efforts the flames were finally brought under control about six o'clock last night.

Slight damage has also been caused by a forest fire on Brush Creek, near Rushtown. The fire is said to have had its start in leaves along the N. & W. tracks, the fire communicating to the forests, where considerable small timber was destroyed.

Shortage Found In One Of Branch Offices Operated By The State Auto Department

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 30.—Branch offices of the State Automobile Department established in various cities to handle the issuance of license plates to automobilists are unlawful, the Secretary of State is liable for his official bond for money taken from such branch offices, Attorney General Crabbe ruled today in State Auditor Tracer.

Smith and Bondsman Liable. The opinion is said to have been rendered in connection with the discovery of alleged shortages in one of the branch offices conducted under former Secretary of State Harvey C. Smith. Under Attorney General Crabbe's ruling Smith and his bondsman are liable to the state for the shortage.

The amount of the shortage is said not to have been determined yet, a check of accounts being in progress. While a law enacted in 1917 gave the secretary of state authority to establish branch offices of the automobile department in various cities to distribute license plates and collect the fees for them, that law was repealed in 1919, the attorney general asserts, making the continuance of all such branch offices since that time unlawful.

Details Not Known.

How and by whom the reported shortage was discovered has not been made public though it is believed that examiners of the state bureau of accounting uncovered it.

When Secretary of State Thad H. Brown assumed office last January, he continued the offices for distribution of the 1923 license tags. The persons in charge of the branch offices have considered the personal representative of the secretary of state and the attorney general's rule holds the secretary of state responsible for all money collected by them. The board of the Secretary of State is $200,000.

Danger lurks in dirty rugs

That mask of dirt on your fine rugs and carpets may hide a positive menace to health.

Every walking shoe tramps in the germs that have been spit into the street; as well as mud, smut, filth, and grease.

The pleasing design and cheerful colors of your rugs and carpets then vanish in a muddy grayness.

But the dirt and danger can now be readily WASHED out by the

an amazing new invention that washes and dries all rugs and carpets.

Used by the U. S. Government and great hotels because it makes rugs like new, brings back faded colors, kills disease germs and moths, sterilizes and prolongs the life of all coverings.

For thorough spring cleansing your rugs must be WASHED the Hamilton Beach way.

Bell Hop Poses As Rich Man; Is Pinched After Gorgeous Week

NEW YORK, Mar. 30.—His only resources, a suitcase containing two telephone directories and a bundle of old newspapers, and a thorough knowledge of the ways of hotels, William Liefer, ex-bellboy, lived the life of a millionaire for a week at the Vanderbilt Hotel, without even spending a nickel for tips. It was disclosed today. Liefer was arrested at the end of his gorgeous week, just as he was about to move on, and admitted in court today that he was a mighty poor richman. He pleaded guilty of defrauding the hotel and was sentenced to from six months to three years in the penitentiary. Probation officers reported he had worked similar swindles at other big hotels.

Besides his bill for rooms, Liefer run up accounts for theatre tickets, taxicabs, cigars and food—and even had his dining room tips added to his checks and collected by the waiters from the cashier, probation officers reported.

Death Calls Robt. W. Jones

(Special to The Times.) OAK HILL, March 30.—Robert W. Jones died at his home here Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, after less than a week's illness. Had he been permitted to live until April 21, he would have been 84 years old. In spite of his age, he had been enjoying excellent health all winter, making his daily trips from his home on the hill to the business places in town.

A few days ago he contracted a severe cold, which later developed into an illness more serious, and from which he was not able to recover. On March 11, 1923, he and his devoted wife celebrated their 50th or Golden Wedding anniversary.

Mr. Jones was twice married, his first wife dying and leaving him with three small sons. Later, he was married to Miss Jane Henson, and to this union was born one daughter, Miss Jennie. Surviving him are his widow, Jane Henson Jones, three sons, Robert V. Jones, of Coalton; J. Wesley Jones of Westerville; Luther E. Jones of Oak Hill; one daughter, Miss Jennie Jones of Oak Hill.

Donor Of "Fortune" Fleeces Easy Mark Out Of Real Wealth

LOUISVILLE, KY., Mar. 30.—Police today were searching for the would-be benefactor of Peter Caravetz who was going to give Caravetz $45,000.

The officers are concerned with the recovery of Pete's $10,000. Mr. Caravetz's one-time miner and late restaurant proprietor, of Benton, Ill., made the acquaintance of an unidentified trio here. One of his new found friends told him of finding a box containing $45,000. The finder's health was bad, the expectant beneficiary said he was told, and he wanted to give the money to some one who would make good use of it.

The finder liked Pete. However, he insisted the beneficiary prove he was a good business man by showing his financial reserve.

Pete drew his $10,000 from the bank and kept an appointment in a rooming house with the trio. His money was added to the $45,000 with the aid of a pistol and a black-jack he reported.

To Cure a Cold in One Day Take Laxative BROMO QUININE tablets. The box bears the signature of E. W. Grove. (Be sure you get BROMO) 30c.—advertisement.

Conference Baseball Teams Are Tuning Up For Season

CHICAGO, March 30.—Baseball practice in the Western conference started off in major league style today.

The University of Illinois squad invading the south for a series of games with leading university teams, is scheduled to play its first game, meeting the Mississippi A. A. and M. at Starkville, Miss. Illinois will play eight games in the south.

Wisconsin, which also is expected to be a strong contender for "big ten" honors, will start a trip through the south next week, while Michigan, always a dangerous entry for diamond honors, will invade Dixie for practice games April 6.

The "big ten" sounds have been working indoors for several weeks and are well advanced in preliminary seasonings. Illinois is starting off with prospects bright for another championship season.

Coach Ray Fisher of the Michigan squad is training a promising array of talent.

Adherence, star pitcher last season, is expected to prove the mainstay of the hurlers.

About thirty candidates are fighting for position on the University of Chicago team.

Foster Denies Connection With Communist Convention

ST. JOSEPH, MICH., Mar. 30.—(By The Associated Press).—William Z. Foster of Chicago, charged with criminal syndicalism, took the stand in his own behalf yesterday. He admitted his presence at the Communist convention, in Berrien county, last August, but denied all connection with the organization.

He denied that he had filled out a questionnaire at the convention and that he had caused to be issued a portfolio containing radical documents. A questionnaire and a portfolio said to have been assigned to Foster at the convention had been introduced in evidence by the state.

Foster admitted on cross-examination that he had sat in one meeting of the syndicalism, or governing body of the convention.

Aid Of Diffidence. The witness spoke in a voice so low that at times it was almost inaudible. His air on the stand was that of a detached spectator. Diffident and smilingly almost bashful, with a shy and bashful smile at times for jury and spectators, there was nothing in his bearing to indicate that he was the man who organized more than 200,000 steel workers and led the great 1919 steel strike, or who according to his own statements, has been an active revolutionary leader for nearly twenty years.

Foster testified he has been a member of the J. W. W. Seamen Union, Carpenters Union and other organizations. He quit the J. W. W., he said, because he no longer agreed with its policies and program.

No Party Affiliation. Foster denied he was a member of any political party or that he was ever a member of the Workers Party or that he belonged to the communist party in August, 1922. Previously the prosecution had introduced a questionnaire, alleged to have been made out by Foster which stated he was a communist party member.

The witness said he first learned of the Bridgman convention of the communists two or three days before he came to it. William F. Dunne, of New York, invited him to attend the convention he said.

Foster denied he was a delegate to the convention but said he delivered an extemporaneous speech.

Steel Workers Face Warrants Of Arrest

SYDNEY, N. S., Mar. 30.—Warrants were issued last night for the arrest of thirty-five steel workers charged with participating in clashes between pickets, non-union workmen and police during strike at the British Empire Steel Corporation plant last month.

No Curtailment Of Postal Service Here, Postmaster Harsha Announces

The plan of the postoffice department to curtail the postal service in many cities through the United States between the period of April 1 to July 1, will not affect Portsmouth, Postmaster W. H. Harsha announced today. The action of the postoffice officials came about, it was explained, because of the nation-wide increase in business, which has cut in upon the appropriations in a large number of cities.

Commenting on the local situation, the Postmaster said yesterday: "By doubling up, and each employee taking on a little more of the burden, we will be able to carry on the present service. The men are co-operating splendidly, and are anxious to maintain the standard if at all possible. I believe that we will be able to do it."

The Young in Heart.

The little girl was crossing the ocean with her mother. One day she had been playing merrily at shuffleboard with a middle-aged gentleman who had made her acquaintance, and who took a great deal of pleasure in teaching her the game.

Her mother, coming in search for her, found her just as she had stopped playing. "What have you been doing, my dear?" asked the mother.

"I've been playing with that young man over there," the little girl replied.

The mother looked across at the middle-aged gentleman and smiled. "How do you know when people are young?" she asked.

"Oh," replied the little girl confidently, "young people are those that have a good time."—Youth's Companion.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—Would you please tell me what to do. I am a boy of 17 years, nine hundred miles from home and broke. I have no work and can't get a job. I will thank you for any advice you might give me.

DOWN AND OUT.
If you will come down to the office and tell me where your father lives, I will wire him to telegraph you enough money to pay your way home. I imagine he would be tickled to death to hear from you even if you did run off or leave home because of any trouble you might have had. Or if you can wait long enough I will write him if you are too timid to do it yourself. Send me your name and address or come down and give it to me. I will see what I can do for you.

Dear Dolly—I am what they call an old maid, just 29 years of age, and am just wild about the boys. But owing to the fact that I have a few wrinkles, I am not at all looked at. Now Dolly, I don't see why these wrinkles should be my failure in love. There is a real pretty shade of red hair and five gold teeth, large blue eyes, and a shape that is just positively perfect. I am about six foot tall and weigh two hundred and ninety. Now Dolly, I must get back to what I am going to ask you. I've got to get rid of these wrinkles some way, because I'm sitting pretty high on the shelf now and I'm getting kind of weak at the knees. I know of one of the nicest men. He is just forty-one years old. I try my best to vamp him but as yet I haven't succeeded.

Dear Dolly—I know you are no fortune teller or mind reader, but I thought you might be able to tell me the name of the girl who wears wind-mills on her slippers. If you don't know who she is you might know whether or not she is married or single. Just a little argument, that's all. No harm done to anybody, but I would like to know why she wears those windmills on her slippers.

SPARK PLUG.

Perhaps she wears 'em to keep the dust off. I don't know her name, but I will ask her the next time I see her.

WHEELERSBURG, Ohio.—Miss Dolly Wise—As I am a new comer here, and have heard people speaking of Rich-ard, the Wizard, could you tell me how to address any mail that would reach him. I would be very much obliged to you.

A TIMES READER.
Address: Richard, the Wizard, Ralph Richards, Tribune Building, Chicago, Ill.

Canton, Ohio.—Dear Dolly—I am a constant reader of your column and I want some of your advice. Dolly, I am going with a rich girl that is going to be hard to win, and I am going with a poor girl that I like very much and she wants me to marry her. Dolly I am 23 years of age and fairly good looking. The rich girl is 22 and the poor one is 18. Now which one shall I marry?

A GOOD BOY.
If you are a poor boy I think you would be happier if you married a girl in your own circumstances. Of course if the rich girl wants to buy a husband, and you are willing to be bought, that's different. However, unless you are able to provide the rich girl with all the luxuries she has now, don't marry her. I would suggest that you wait about two or three years and then marry a girl you know will be satisfied with what you have to offer her.

P. E.—I suppose it is closed because the persons who have the building rented do not think it advisable to open it this early in the season. Perhaps it will open later.

An announcement which will no doubt prove of great interest to the lovers of good music in this city, and to those equally interested in bringing artistic music to Portsmouth, is that the Ladies Musicales has succeeded in booking for next season, the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Max Reiner, and the famous coloratura soprano, Frieda Hempel, though the dates have not yet been set.

Since the splendid success of the musicale in presenting such artists as Schumann-Helcke, Paul Althouse, Weremuth and others the past two seasons, they feel sure that this new venture will find approval with the music-loving public.

Miss Hempel will have with her a flutist and pianist. Preceding the concert, the Musicales has arranged with Prof. Elmer Ende to give a lecture on the symphony, to be played by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, so that the ticket holders may better understand the theme.

The officers of the Musicales include Mrs. T. W. Bannon, president; Mrs. George Matthews, vice president; Miss Louise Evans, secretary; and Mrs. Charles Storck, treasurer. The executive board is composed of Mrs. Alan N. Jordan, Miss Alice Blake, Mrs. James Breese, Mrs. J. B. Brooks, Miss Louise Evans, Mrs. A. E. Everard and Mrs. A. J. Wilhelm.

Mrs. Barry Ball, Mrs. Josephine Calver and Mrs. Thomas Calver of this city, visited with Mrs. Minerva Morris at Union Mills Thursday.

The young ladies of the Opportunity Auxiliary of the Second Presbyterian Church will have an Easter bazaar on Saturday beginning at one o'clock in the Gift Shop and shoe department of the Marling Store.

Mr. D. M. Dulin, 1812 Grandview Avenue, has gone to Baltimore, Md., where he will spend a few days on business.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Nick rolled up the new side they were going to paste on the Cut-Out Lady when they saw her and stuck it into his pocket.

Then he and Nancy left the Picture-Book House and started again on their journey through Sugar-Plum Land.

Presently they heard a loud barking and then a terrified meowing. Then there were sounds of growling and hissing and snarling and scrapping that sounded like a hundred packs of fire crackers going off.

Just then a white coconut cat came flying around the corner, and right at his heels was the knick-knack dog.

"Mew—ew—ew! Pfst! Pfst! Pfst!" went puss, her eyes flashing and each piece of coconut standing up on end, till she looked more like a porcupine than a kitty.

"Brrrr! Bow, wow, wow Brrrr!" barked the dog, showing his teeth as though he would eat the whole world up.

Suddenly he made a jump and grabbed the cat and shook her. "Oh, oh, oh!" cried Nancy. "It's snowing coconut."

And indeed it was. One could have made quite a fine coconut snowball.

"Shoo!" cried Nick stamping his foot. "Get out, you bad dog."

The knick-knack dog looked surprised, he dropped the coconut cat and ran away.

But the poor cat was no longer a coconut cat. Indeed it was only a plain sponge cake cat with no coat at all. He hopped home to his mistress before Nancy could tell him what the Muffin Man had said about giving him a coat of hard icing that wouldn't come off in a fight.

"Oh, dear," cried Nancy in distress. "Now the Cut-Out Lady will be crosser than ever about her cat, and she'll sew more buttons on crooked. We'll have to hurry."

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

The trip to Chocolate Lake was really very short. And such a queer place Jack had never seen before. As Caramel got out of his Maple Puff couch, Jack knelt down by the side of the lake. Then a lot of shouting attracted his attention. Once more Flip was the cause.

Jack's faithful dog had smelled the chocolate in Chocolate Lake. He was very fond of chocolate so he walked right up and started to lick it up. "Hey," shouted Caramel, "call your dog away. He'll drink Chocolate Lake dry. And then that would spoil a lot of good riddles."

Jack rushed up to Flip and grabbed hold of him. "Come away from there, old fellow," he shouted. "This is the Candy Land swimming pool and you mustn't spoil it." Flip seemed to understand, for he stopped licking up the chocolate. Then Jack noticed a queer bottle standing nearby. (Continued.)

New York By Day And Night

BY JACK HOOB

I suppose there are a great many folks who will say: "My goodness, is that fellow down to New York again?" and "What's he doing down there so much?"

All of which can be answered very readily by asking a question in return. What would you say if you should go to Anderson's store and out of the merchandise you wanted? You'd say that somebody ought to do some buying. Well, that's just what I'm doing, and the more you buy the oftener we buyers must come to the market and I must say that so far this year you have been keeping us on the jump. Of course, you are not interested in all this shop talk but you might be interested in seeing New York through some body else's eyes. My first days work is now over and I am here alone in a big hotel. The city with its sights and attractions lies before me. What would you do? How would you spend the evening if you were in my place here? In the first place I must have something to eat. Where shall I go for dinner? Where would you go? The firm provides my expenses so I can go where I choose. Let's see, there's the Palais Royal, I could go there and listen to Paul Whiteman's orchestra while I eat; or I could go to the Moulin Rouge and see a regular girl show staged while I eat, or I could go to the Ritz, the Met, the Pennsylvania, Astor or Waldorf Astoria hotels for my dinner. At all these places you will see many people, fine clothes and New York's entire life at its highest. You may take your choice, but I have already eaten in most of these places so I'm going right across the street from my hotel to the nicest, cleanest cafeteria you ever saw.

Now how would you like to guess what I am going to do after I get through eating. There is a particular thing I can choose from. Which one would choose? There is Heifetz, the violinist in a concert. There is Bohm in a Piano recital, there's

Women Should Act Quickly

When a woman finds herself afflicted with backache, headaches, nervousness, dragging-down pains in her side, irregularities and irritability, dark circles appear under the eyes and her complexion gets sallow, she may be sure the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to her sex. Such women should act quickly and take the great American remedy for such conditions, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and they may be saved years of suffering. For generations this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring ailing women to health and it may be relied upon with perfect confidence.

Lohengrin at the Metropolitan Opera House. Then if that isn't enough music here's the Philharmonic, whatever that is, then here's the Wagerian Opera Festival giving "Hansel and Gretel," sounds interesting, doesn't it? Well, take your choice of those but if they are a little too high-brow, here are some lighter attractions maybe you would like better. Take the "Ziegfeld Follies" for instance or "The Music Box Revue," they're both good. Then there's Jane Carol as Juliet, Earl Carroll in "The Gingham Girl," also, "The Clinging Vine," "So This is London," "Little Nellie Kelly," "Ballets Chante Souris," "Rain," "Abies Irish Rose," "The Old Song," "The Fool," "Seventh Heaven," and Pauline Frederick (herself) in "The Guilty One." Now there you are. Grand opera, classical music, girl shows, heavy and light drama and comedy. Take your choice, and besides these mentioned there are perhaps fifty or a hundred more. Where am I going? Well you missed it again. I'm going right down to Madison Square Garden, famous since Harry Thaw killed Stanford White, and see the circus. Yes, sir, a real honest-to-goodness circus. It's Hurling Bros. and Barum and Bailey. Wish I had a kid or two to take along. So long folks I can't hardly wait to get there and see the clowns, the freaks and the animals and eat a sack of peanuts. I'll see you after its over and tell you how I liked it.

Well, the circus is over and I thoroughly enjoyed myself. Everything was up to expectations and had anything in the circus line I have ever seen, beaten to a frazzle. There were the freaks, the menagerie, the sellers of balloons and whips and everything that goes with a regular circus. I fairly roared at the funny clowns and their antics. I'm sorry I did not attend his concert, also, I would like for the Grand Opera folk to know that I chose a circus in preference to their high class show. They might think I were a low-brow and goodness gracious, that would be awful. The real facts of the matter are that I have heard so much of that high-falootin' music that I am full clear up to the gills, and I've gotten to the point where I've quit lying about a concert or opera, saying it was truly wonderful, magnificent and all of that hokus-pokus, when I was bored all the time and wished I was home or somewhere else. If that be low-browism, make the most of it. I've heard Josef Hoffman play. I've heard Galli-Curi sing. I've seen and heard the stars of the Metropolitan sing and yell back and forth at one another in three or four different languages, none of which I could understand, and I've heard symphony orchestras, which I will have to admit are mighty fine, but when it comes to real music, the kind that touches you somewhere, you don't know where, but you can feel it, just give me the old River City band marching down "Chilliothe" street playing "Tuck Me To Sleep" or "The National Emblem March." That's real music, the kind that makes you feel better and happier all day. It's the kind that has the human touch and low-brow or high-brow, I like it. Speaking of high class music, I suspect if my friend and fellow buyer P. V. Davidson, were down here with me this time, I would have to accompany him to some swell concert for he fondles on that classical kind or says he does. Better not say anything to him about the time we went to the opera and he started to cheer the seventy-five piece orchestra when they got through tuning up, thinking they had been rendering some swell selection. He might not have wanted me to tell that but still he didn't say anything about it being a secret.

I see by today's paper where Shanley's restaurant has closed its doors, having gone into bankruptcy. I'm sorry. Shanley's was about the first of the really large, swell restaurants I visited and for years I have usually eaten there once or twice a trip. Always an experience as well as an education in style, I have enjoyed it. There are many other Portsmouth folk too, who have eaten at Shanley's and I am sure they will bear me out in the statement that it was really an event to take dinner at Shanley's.

Here's a romance. I just heard about today and the best part of it is that it is absolutely true. While down at the laboratory where they make legal records for talking machines, they told me the story. In the record "Lonesome" there is a place where the fellow gives a girl his telephone number and tells her when she is "Lonesome" to just call that number and say "I'm lonesome." In making the record they used the telephone number of the laboratory and of course thought nothing of it. Imagine their surprise when one month evening shortly after the record had been released, the phone at the laboratory rang and a young lady's voice asked if that was number so-and-so, the one given on the record. When up-being informed that it was, she replied "I'm lonesome." What was the poor fellow at the laboratory to do? Or rather what else could he do? Being a kind-hearted, chivalrous young man, he went post haste to the young lady's address. He has been back many times since. He has met "me" and "mm" and they do say that June will not come in vain this year. Can you beat that? (THE END)

Pays Tribute To Father Thurheimer

In the last issue of the Jackson Standard-Journal, E. C. Bentley of Columbus, paid the following tribute to Father P. T. Thurheimer, who for many years was the pastor of the Catholic Church in Jackson, and who was well known in Portsmouth:

"It was the extreme good fortune of the writer to enjoy the companionship of Father P. T. Thurheimer for a couple of hours daily during the summer of 1904, and this little appreciation of a gentleman, scholar, artist is small return for the lasting benefits derived from that enjoyable acquaintance. It has been my pleasure and to my profit to meet with a number of men of high attainments in the world, but none has impressed me as lastingly and profoundly with his versatility and high mental development as had the subject of this letter.

"Like all worth while things in life, the benefits of his acquaintance had to be striven for to be enjoyed. The broad view is not to be had until the height is climbed. The cool refreshing water from a deep well must be drawn before quaffing. The gold buried in the earth can be acquired only by hard strenuous toil. This man has a reserve that must be penetrated to gain access to the great beauty and serenity of his soul.

"Father Thurheimer was a gentleman. This word is far greater than the shallow meaning usually conveyed when one calls a man thus for his outward deportment and knowledge of etiquette. It means in full a man who values those with whom he comes in contact at their true worth, sets them an example to be lived up to, draws them out to view the inner qualities of their souls, and sends them forth with a lasting impression of having visited in the presence of greatness.

"He was a scholar. His knowledge of history and letters was profound. He had a grasp of world affairs that might have been the envy of great statesmen. His philosophy was rational and unbigoted. He pursued any subject or premise in which he was interested step by step to its end to avoid any error in his reasoning. He deplored the tendency to extremes of those who reasoned only deep enough to gain a half proof of the fallacy of their logic.

"He was an artist. His ability on the piano was the greatest the writer ever experienced outside the ranks of the great professional artists. He played selections from the great masters from memory and with such soulfulness that it carried the auditor to heights of ecstasy beyond the power of words to describe.

"When men are measured at their true value, it may be that this man contributed more toward the advancement of civilization and culture in the world than many men of national reputation, for it is impossible for the finite mind to grasp the far-reaching effect of the little lessons learned from one who shunned notoriety and fame. The great oak forgets the little acorn buried in the earth, to which it owes its experience, but the rocket ascending by its own power, when the fire is applied soon spends itself and falls into oblivion."

Had "Blue Laws" 100 Years Ago

COVINGTON, KY., March 30 — "Blue Sunday" did not exasperate the early settlers of Covington, according to a record book recently unearthed in the city hall. The book, which dates back to 1823, a year after the Kentucky Legislature provided for the town, contains the minutes of the first meeting of the board of trustees.

"Tennis pitching" and marble playing were two "sports" which were not permitted to disturb the tranquillity of the Sabbath. There are no regulations concerning any breaches of laws by the citizens.

Taxes in 1830 did not amount to much. During that year $500 was collected in taxes and after all bills incurred by the town were paid, $40 remained in the treasury. A tax of 12 1/2 cents was placed on cows and five cents on horses whose owners permitted them to roam at will. Each lot was taxed $1.

Great excitement prevailed in the town when a woman believed to be suffering from smallpox was found. The trustees called a special meeting and the woman was "deported" to a house in the wilderness, whose owner was allowed $2 a month to care for her.

The record is in good state of preservation and is in the possession of James G. Arnold, town clerk.

Serpents To Meet
A meeting of the Military Order of Serpents, Spanish American War veterans, will be held at 7:30 o'clock, tonight in the basement of the Public Library. Degree work will be conferred on a number of candidates, and important business will be transacted. All members are urged to be present.

Organizer John Hart, of Toledo, was the guest of honor at a banquet given Thursday night by the Barbers' Local in Haru Gari hall, Gallia and Gay streets, and he was the principal speaker. His address dealt with the progress and accomplishments of the International Union from the time of its organization in 1887 until the present time.

The affair was a huge success and immensely enjoyed by the sixty members of the local present, together with their "bosses" and friends. In the course of his address Organizer Hart said in part:

"The first local was organized in Buffalo, December 8, 1887," he said, "and the organization has been growing since that time. In Ohio we are organized in 37 towns and cities. Every city in the United States of over 25,000 population is organized, and many of the smaller cities and towns. In 1897, when the first disability claims were paid, we paid out $722. Last year we paid out over $400,000.

George Clark, W. H. Brown, of New Boston; H. O. Williams and William Gooden were the other speakers on the program.

Brumfield's orchestra furnished the music, and the banquet was prepared and served by Mrs. Fred Langwell. Leroy Compton took a picture of the diners.

Secretary Paul Flavin, of the local organization, stated that there are 60 members in Portsmouth employed in 35 shops.

STOMACH TROUBLE DISAPPEARED

Baptist Minister, of North Carolina, Says He Owe His Good Health to the Use of Black-Draught.

Summit, N. C. — "My health is good and I can say with pleasure I owe it to Black-Draught," writes the Rev. J. H. Wilcoxen, local Baptist minister at this place. In the statement given here, Mr. Wilcoxen said that Black-Draught had been used in his home for fifteen to eighteen years.

"I have had a stomach trouble," said Mr. Wilcoxen, "so that after meals I would break out in perspiration and feel tight in the chest. I would go to my sleep, take a good dose of Black-Draught, and in less than an hour all this disagreeable tightness would disappear.

"I used it with my children for colds and constipation. I find it is a splendid remedy for gas and sour stomach and I would not be without it."

Mrs. Wilcoxen said: "In the spring when I would feel sluggish, have a bad taste in my mouth and a light feeling in my head when I would stoop over when about my work, I knew it was torpid liver, and that I must take something. Black-Draught is the best thing I know of. I use it in big doses at first, then small. It is fine—made me feel so much better. We feel that we couldn't get along without it."

The genuine, old, original Black-Draught powdered liver medicine has been used for over 80 years. Insist upon, and see that you get the genuine—Theodor's. Sold everywhere. 25c. —Advertisement 1t

The Sunday School Lesson

THE WALK TO ANNAUS
REV. E. AINGER POWELL

The theme of the International lesson for Easter Day is "The Walk to Emmaus." To Cleopas and another disciple Christ appeared as they were walking from Jerusalem to Emmaus, a village seven miles distant from the Holy City. The two disciples were discussing the events of the day. They were asking one another why the Nazarene, a prophet mighty in deed and word, should have been crucified. They were thinking of all the events of the previous week, of the trial, death, and rumored resurrection of Jesus. They were greatly excited and disturbed about these things. And then Jesus, himself, drew near and went with them. The Evangelist records the birth of Our Lord's appearances on this first of the forty days of the risen life in matter of fact language. He sees nothing strange in this meeting. He does nothing to arouse an event unique in human experience. He takes it for granted that wherever men walk and talk about Christ—He draws near to them. Where two or three are gathered together in My Name, there am I in the midst of them. Sometimes indeed "our eyes are hidden" for a time just as those of Cleopas and his companion were on this occasion. But, if we construe Christ to tarry with us, our eyes are opened even as were theirs and we know Him as He said they. Theirs, be it noted, was the reward of perseverance. They constrained Him by hearty invitation to tarry with them. There is an Emmaus in the life of every Christian. A time when Christ "makes as though He would go further." A parting of the ways. It is then that we must say whether or not we are willing to part with our teacher. There are critical moments in our pilgrimage. Cleopas and his friend would have lost a golden opportunity had they not said "Abide with us." We should be careful lest we lose the opportunities of knowing Christ that are presented to us. Our intimacy with Him may seem of the slightest and we may despair of His being greater and so suffer Him to leave us. It is just then that we should importune Him to stay with us. Then our darkness shall be turned into light. Nowhere else is this thought so beautifully expressed as in the words of a well-beloved hymn abide with me; fast falls the evening tide; the darkness deepens; Lord with me abide; when other helpers fail, and comforts flee, help of the helpless, O abide with me. Because those two humble disciples of the Master doubted honestly and were distressed because they doubted unlike many who seem proud of their doubts today, or at least undisturbed by them. He patiently taught them; and they, as patiently listening, found their hearts burning with desire to believe that He was alive. And when He took bread and blessed it, and breaking it, gave to them, they knew Him. To "know Him and the power of His resurrection"—that is the great reward of the faithful Christian.

Through that power to walk in "newness of life," to do "all things," to "become dead unto sin and alive unto God," at last to "be like Him" and to "see Him as He is." For Christ's resurrection is the pledge of our own, the effectual guaranty of the truth that "God hath given unto us eternal life and that this life is in His Son."

Truly "this is the day that the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it." for Jesus lives! the terrors now Can no longer death appall us; Jesus lives! by this we know That, O grave, cannot not enthrall us. Alleluia!

MICHAEL'S WEDDING GIFT
BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM
Copyright, 1922, by E. Phillips Oppenheim
Arrgt. NEA Service, Inc.

Vendetta begins between MICHAEL SAYEIS, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting down an officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes Sayers' wife and accomplice.

Janet takes passage to Marseilles, where a confederate of Sayers', named Louisa Martin, is jealous of Janet and plots against her. Greys, following on the trail of Michael, reaches him to his place of residence in Marseilles. It develops that Sayers has eluded his pursuers by disguising a confederate as himself and leaving him at the residence. Greys reaches Michael's hiding place just in time to rescue Janet. He is wounded by a shot from Sayers' revolver. Sayers escapes.

FOR many months after my somewhat ingenuous escape from the cafe of Madame Poudouin in the Maritime Quarter of Marseilles, I lived in the Forest du Don, on the far side of Hyeres, the life of a dog. There were three of us woodmen in the hut—Pierre, Jacques and myself. Suttinide more complete than that which I shared with these two men I have never imagined. I read the newspapers, which we obtained with difficulty from the neighboring village—read of myself as the most notorious criminal at large, read of all the world-famed detectives of London, Paris and New York who had sworn to effect my capture, read of my crimes, my daring, my cunning, read of all these things outside my shutters on the hillside—and smiled. Given a certain amount of resignation and patience, and I knew very well that I was safe as long as I chose.

One day a chance incident set me thinking. We had paused for a second to fill our pipes with filthy tobacco, barely a dozen yards round one of the hairpin corners of the forest road, leaving our wagons, as usual, in the middle of the thoroughfare. Suddenly a car swung round the corner, traveling too fast for the driver to apply his brakes with safety. With great skill he passed us, grazing the long trunks of the lopped trees and escaping the precipice by a matter of inches. That night I saw that Pierre and Jacques drank more than their usual share of the sour wine, and afterward I propounded my scheme.

"Comrades," I said, "it is a dog's life we lead."

"They growled consent." "Today," I continued, "an idea came to me. If our wagons had been an inch or two nearer the outside corner of the road, or the man in the automobile a shade less skillful, he could not possibly have escaped. His automobile would have been swished, and he would have gone over the edge of the precipice."

"They made strange noises in their throats and continued to listen." "It is a dog's life, this," I repeated. "What we need, to make things comfortable, is money—money, so that you two can go down to the cafe at the foot of the hill and drink brandy with the daughters of the village, they who leave you now so unkindly alone because you have nothing to spend upon them."

Their pipes were out of their mouths now, and they were listening intently.

"A man like that one today would have money—a pocketbook. Whilst he was unconscious, look you, we would take it. One of us would bring it up here, here where there are a hundred hiding-places, in the ground, the trees, the cracks of the earth. A pocketbook which is lost, is lost. What do you say, comrades?"

There was no doubt about how the scheme appealed to them.

"It would be an equal share between the three?" Pierre urged.

"Between the three?" I agreed. "Leave the details to me."

We went to our work the next morning with a new zest. All the time that we were at work in the forest we were thinking of what fortune might have in store for us on our homeward crawl. We crawled round each corner, loitering at the psychological spot always with the same evil hope in our hearts.

The affair, however, was not so easy. Sometimes we were seen from above or below; sometimes drivers were too careful. On the fourth day, however, success rewarded our perseverance. A small automobile which I had spotted from a distance came round the corner where we were, so to speak, undisturbed, driven with that full measure of recklessness which only a Frenchman, anxious to have his engine, can obtain. There was a wild cry from the driver, a crash into our wagon, and over went the automobile and man down the side of the precipice.

It was I who clambered down to where our victim was lying, and drew a gleaming black pocketbook from the inside of his coat. Afterward I felt his heart, and discovered that he was alive. I ordered Pierre to move the wagon over to our own side of the road, and we secreted the pocketbook among the logs we were carrying. Presently a public touring car from Cannes, on its way to Hyeres, arrived. The accident was explained; room was made for the injured man; and a liberal poultice was given us, collected among the passengers. We then made our way home, and later on, when we had lighted our evening fire, we opened the pocketbook. I divided the money into three portions, but I spoke to them as a master.

"Listen, Jacques, and you, Pierre," I said. "I am a man of justice, but although I am one of you, I have traveled beyond these forests, and I know the world. If you take this money with you to the village to night, you will be drunk, the truth will be known and we shall all go to prison. I will swear to you the woodcutters' oath, the oath across the flames, that your share shall be saved. But go to the village tonight with 20 francs each, the poultice given us by the Englishman, and let me keep the rest for you, or hide it for yourselves."

They had just sufficient wit to realize that I was their superior in intelligence and that my advice was good. So we growled an oath in the strange dialect of those parts, and I slipped their gaudied and knotted hands, which reminded me always of the roots of the trees we felled.

Our next adventure, engineered in similar fashion to the last, brought us a matter of a couple of thousand francs. This time, however, there was trouble, for the driver's work was broken as he pitched head foremost from the seat of the car; and his wife, who was only slightly injured, gave vigorous evidence as to the position of our wagon and the disappearance of her husband's pocketbook after we had dragged his body up from a ledge of the precipice. A gendarme from the neighboring village visited us that same night and made a careful search through our belongings. There was nothing to be found, however, and by preserving a stolid silence and leaving all speech to me, my companions escaped suspicion just as I did. Afterward, however, I spoke to them seriously.

"Comrades," I pointed out, "this game is too good to last. For a time,

Tanlac Ends Bad Siege Of Rheumatism

"I heard so much about Tanlac overcoming stomach trouble and indigestion, I thought it might help my rheumatism, too, but I didn't dream it would give me such complete relief," said Mrs. Alice A. Dice, 1504 3rd st., S. E. Canton, Ohio, recently.

"The rheumatism came on me suddenly and was all over me almost before I realized I was in its grip. It soon had me in dreadful pain and misery and so crippled up I was almost deprived of the use of my limbs. Mornings I simply couldn't get out of bed without assistance, and I felt weak and run-down in every way."

"But all that is over now and after taking three bottles of Tanlac there isn't any soreness in my muscles or joints, my limbs are perfectly supple and I never feel an ache or pain. Tanlac is really and truly such a grand medicine I wish every sufferer would try it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.—Advertisement.

we must go warily. Afterward we will seek one more adventure, which we must select with great care, for it will be my last. If it is successful, I shall leave you. Afterward you two had better bury your savings in the ground and abandon the game, for it needs brains to be made successful, and you two have not the brains of a rabbit between you."

IT WAS I WHO CLAMBERED DOWN TO WHERE OUR VICTIM WAS LYING AND DREW A GLEAMING POCKETBOOK.

They knew that I was right, and they held their peace. It was a month later, indeed, before we made our last coup, and it ended in a very different fashion from what I had anticipated. From my lookout place on a stretch of the road above the wagons, I saw a gray touring car, filled with luggage and golf-clubs, approaching from the direction of Cannes. There was a girl in front, seated by the driver, and an elderly gentleman behind. I called down to the others.

"Comrades, this is our chance," I announced. "Move the wagons on around the corner, and be prepared for what may happen."

What did happen was not in the least what I had expected. From where I lay, crouching amongst the scrub, I could see that something was wrong with the car. The chauffeur was rocking in his seat, and the car was swaying from side to side.

But it was the girl's face from which I could not remove my eyes. She must have fully realized the danger she was in, but she showed not the slightest signs of fear. She leaned over and tried to put on the foot-brake, succeeding so far, in fact, as momentarily to check the progress of the car. The chauffeur, suddenly seizing his opportunity, jumped from his seat and rolled over in the dust. The girl's foot apparently slipped from the brake, and the car once more gathered speed.

I saw her eyes, as the car came bumping down the hill, heard the wild shouting and exclamations of the old gentleman behind, and there came to me one of those extraordinary moments which I make no attempt to explain.

I half slid, half scrambled, down the slope into the road, drew in my breath, poised myself for a great effort, and at the psychological moment leaped for the front splash-board. I found myself sprawling across the seat, but my left hand was upon the wheel. We were within two inches of the precipice after my jump, and we just touched the further side of the road with my grab at the wheel. I righted the car without much difficulty, applied the brake, gently but with increasing force, took the corner with only a moderate skid and brought the car to a standstill within a few feet of the wagon. When the girl saw it, the first look of fear crept into her face.

Good Friday Observed In Local Churches

Good Friday in the churches of Portsmouth was observed with the usual impressiveness and solemnity. Services in keeping with the spirit of the day, which marks the beginning of the end of the Lenten season were held in some of the churches this afternoon and services will be held in nearly all the churches tonight.

"How Shall We Escape?"
At Central Presbyterian Church tonight, the Rev. G. M. Howerton will preach upon the subject, "How Shall We Escape, If We Neglect So Great a Salvation." Congregational singing will be featured with several numbers arranged by the choir. Services have been held at Central Presbyterian every night of Holy Week, and a large number of new members have been received.

Dr. Neighbor to Speak Tonight
Dr. R. E. Neighbor's sermon tonight was upon "Three Striking Pictures."
1. The picture of the sinner in his sins. "Ye were dead" walking according to the course of this world.

2. according to the prince of the world of the air. "The sons of disobedience." 3. walking in the lusts of the flesh and of the mind. 4. and were children of wrath." 5. The picture of the redeemed, in righteousness. "Ye were quickened." 6. "raised." 7. "seated." 8. The picture of the Lord in his saving power. "But God who is rich in mercy." 9. "great in love." 10. or by grace are ye saved." The sermon was replete with striking illustrations of God's call to a separated life. The large audience was moved by the spirit of God. Today finished the messages of the visiting minister. The audience was well filled last night and tonight the pastor prophesies a capacity audience.
Several were baptised last night. There will be baptism again tonight.

Evangelistic Service

The revival which has been in progress this week at the United Brethren Church will continue tonight, with a sermon by Rev. E. H. Dailley, pastor of the church.

The revival has been most successful, with growing interest, and has proved to be a great follow-up campaign to the George Wood Anderson crusade, in which the church co-operated.

The congregational music at the meetings is splendid and the public is cordially invited.
Two Cantatas To Be Sung
The service to be held tonight at the Second Presbyterian Church will be one of the finest musical programs of the year. "Gallia" and "The Seven Words of Christ" will be sung by the choir under the direction of Prof. Elmer Ende.

The choir has been working for weeks on this service, and the preparation augurs a most successful program.

The public is cordially invited.

The last of the pre-Easter series will be held tonight at the First Presbyterian Church, and the growing attendance throughout the week indicates a most successful service tonight. Richard Knost will sing tonight.

Double Tragedy Results When Girl Discovers The Man That She Loved Was Married

Detective Tragic Victim Of Policeman's Zealousness And Mistaken Identity

NEW YORK, March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Frederick W. Burdum, 41, a contractor, socially and professionally prominent, died early today, the victim of a gun in the hands of Miss Helene Ziegler, 26, daughter of a well-to-do Riverside Drive family, who killed herself after having mortally wounded Burdum in his office late yesterday. The tragedy was believed to have followed the girl's discovery, after a ten-year friendship with Burdum, that the contractor was married.

Miss Ziegler called at Burdum's office yesterday, but he was too busy to see her. She returned two hours later and gained access to the office. Miss Ziegler was inside fifteen minutes when H. S. Cox, the employee who had admitted her, heard two shots. Cox summoned M. E. Ames, one of Burdum's superintendents, who had left the office shortly before. They found Miss Ziegler dead, a pistol wound in her right temple. Burdum was shot in the right temple, but was still breathing.

The story of the tragedy was related by acquaintances of both families. Burdum, they said, met Miss Ziegler about the time of his marriage, ten years ago. Neither she nor her family knew of the marriage.

Recently Burdum attempted to discontinue his affair with Miss Ziegler. He told him friends that his wife had learned of their relationship and had declared he must renounce either the girl or his family. He was said to have made yesterday's appointment for the purpose of discussing with the girl the step he was about to take.

Miss Ziegler entered Burdum's private office, shot him with an old double barreled 45-caliber army Remington-Union City pistol, then killed herself with the weapon.

The shooting took place in his suite of offices on the second floor of the Grand Central terminal building. The body of Miss Ziegler, prostrate and with the two barreled 45 caliber pistol still clutched in her right hand, was discovered in Burdum's private office 15 minutes after those outside had heard voices raised as if in violent argument, and heard two shots rapidly fired and then unbroken silence.

She was on the floor. A bullet had torn through her brain. In a far corner of the room was Burdum, clinging to a window ledge, gasping and rumpling his hair. Blood streamed from a wound in the left side of his head.

As those from without rushed toward him calling him by name, he pitched to the floor, almost over the body of the young woman.

Burdum's young wife refused at first to believe he had been the victim of a shooting. Later she ordered a motor car and made it speed from their home to her husband's bedside and remained with him at the hospital.

The Burdum's wealthy neighbors at Dobbs Ferry expressed the belief that he was the victim of mistaken identity. He was, they said, one of the most highly esteemed men of the community. A "home loving business man," they called him, "devoted to his wife." There are no children.

A brother, T. H. Burdum, was said by the police to be a well known architect at Chicago.

The young woman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Ziegler, were told of the shooting by a patrolman who accompanied them in a taxicab to the morgue. They declined to talk with reporters, but the superintendent of the fashionable apartment building said the young woman was not employed and "stayed at home with her mother."

Burdum's home, River View Manor, was one of the show places of Dobbs Ferry. He and his wife were active in social circles and were members of the most exclusive clubs in the community, including the Athletic Club and the River View Manor Association.

Miss Ziegler wore a large diamond solitaire on the engagement finger of her left hand, while upon the fingers of her right hand were two other large diamonds.

Police have begun a search for Miss Ida Murphy of Brooklyn, who was said to have accompanied Miss Ziegler to the Terminal and waited in the corridors while her friend went to face Burdum. It was believed she had seen the girl's body when she had tea at the Waldorf Astoria this afternoon, and as far as police have determined, went from there directly to Burdum's suite.

Death Sentence Of Archbishop Commuted; Priest Must Die

MOSCOW, March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—The death sentence recently imposed on Archbishop Zephal, head of the Roman Catholic Church in Russia, was commuted today to ten years' imprisonment under strict isolation. The appeal of Vicar General Butchkevich for clemency was denied.

The central executive committee, which met to consider requests for mitigation of the sentences, said in its decision that both prelates were deserving of the penalty imposed by the Moscow court, but that commutation was ordered in the case of the archbishop because a certain element of the Catholic citizens in Russia might exploit the sentence as being directed against the priests and their religion.

The committee, however, said it regarded that the evidence in the case of Monsignor Butchkevich showed his direct reasonable connection with an enemy of the state. The decision was signed by President Kallinin and Secretary Sapronov. Referring to Butchkevich, the decision read:

"As regards citizen Butchkevich, who in criminal activity on the ground of religion, combined virtually in revolutionary activities and who used his position as a priest to carry on a direct and active state treason, the request for reprieve is left without consequences."

Archbishop Zephal and Monsignor Butchkevich, together with fifteen Catholic priests, were found guilty by the Moscow court on Monday last of opposing the soviet government. The sentence of death was imposed on the archbishop and the vicar general, but a stay of execution was ordered by the central executive committee. The other prisoners were sentenced to prison terms.

Announcement of the sentence brought reaction in various parts of the world. The American state department undertook to inform the soviet government through Ambassador Loughan at Berlin, that the United States earnestly hoped the executions might not take place. Pope Pius requested that the priests be liberated on the ground that they were his subjects, while Premier Sikorski, of Poland, acting almost immediately upon receipt of the news from Moscow informed the soviet minister to Poland that the Polish government condemned the court's action.

The British government also let it be known that it was doing its best to prevent the executions and several members of the British parliament appealed to Foreign Minister Tseikobrin.

Queen Of Rum Fleet Lost During Heavy Gale

HIGHLAND, N. J., March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—The queen of the Highland rum running fleet was lost during the heavy north-west gale Wednesday.

The queen ship, the largest and fastest putting out from Highlands the rum armada off shore, was lost while making her second trip to the Maritime liquor mart.

When she started for shore with 100 cases of liquor, having an estimated retail value of $7,500, she encountered a 48 mile gale which forced her to return to the Ister, a British steamer from which she had purchased her cargo.

The rummer managed to come alongside the Ister and her water-soaked crew was taken off. The boat valued at $3,000, foundered, with the cargo.

The Ister took care of the crew until the gale abated. Then they were landed by a rum runner from New York.

OBITUARY

John McCoy Moore

John McCoy Moore, son of Jacob and Rachel E. Moore, was born in Evansville, Indiana, Sept. 22, 1853. His father came to Ohio when John was two years old and had lived in the neighborhood of Jackson Furnace since childhood, where he attended the public schools and later engaged as a farmer and carpenter.

It 1872 he was united in marriage to Katherine Cramphell and to this union thirteen children were born, three of whom died in youth.

He leaves his loving wife and the following children: Mrs. Laura Hines, and Mrs. Clara Shinn of Pinkerman; Mrs. Ida Smith and Mrs. Marie Raymond of Jackson, Furnace; Mrs. Annie Miller of Columbus, Samuel of Minford, Russell of Columbus, and Frank, Earl and Ray at home. The funeral service was conducted at the home 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. In charge of Rev. John S. Yelch. Burial was in Jackson Furnace cemetery.

He was united in marriage to Elvira Partridge December 27, 1857. To this union thirteen children were born. The wife and five children preceded him to the grave.

The surviving children are Mrs. Mary Slack, Scioto Furnace; Mrs. Isabelle Cunningham and Mrs. Emma Johnson of Sciotoville; Mrs. Nora Hancey of Portsmouth; Mrs. Annie Schmitt and William Riddleberger of Harrison Furnace; James Riddleberger of Logan, O.

"THE ROSARY" AT THE SUN

The Jack Ball Players are presenting for the last three days of Holy Week the ever popular play of "The Rosary," by Edward E. Rose. For years this beautiful play has served as a special Holy Week attraction and has attracted people all over the country in what is claimed to be a masterpiece. Its story of love, faith and hope, are beautifully woven together in an absorbing play.

A bargain matinee is to be given Saturday.

Seats for the special Easter Monday attraction, "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," another Al H. Woods screaming farce comedy, goes on sale tomorrow morning. This attraction has never before been seen in Portsmouth and will rank in laughing purposes with the best of the late farces put on by the players.

The story concerns the troubles of a Richard Irving, a newswoman, who is determined to make any sacrifice to make his bride happy. His wife just dotes on her husband having a

Miss Cassidy Will Return To Kline Store

Rapidly growing business of the Excelsior Shoe shop at Kline's has necessitated the employment of an addition to the personnel, and patrons of this popular store will be pleased to learn that Miss Agnes Cassidy, formerly in charge of this shop, has been induced to return and will be ready to greet her old and new friends the latter part of next week. Miss Cassidy some time ago accepted a position with the Noy Bros. store, one of the leading shoe stores of Wheeling, W. Va., and Charles Taggart came here from Cincinnati to take charge of the local store. As his business is expanding rapidly, Mr. Taggart has induced Miss Cassidy to return.

Donahey Demands Resignation Of Poor And Mauller

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 30.—(By the Associated Press).—Governor Donahey yesterday formally asked for the resignations of George T. Poor, of Cincinnati, and Frank B. Mauller of Chillicothe, both Republicans, as members of the state public utilities commission in order that he might appoint new members to the commission who would carry out his policies. The letters calling for the resignations of the two members of the commission declare that the policy of the commission as evidenced by its actions is not in accord with that of the executive, and that inasmuch as he was elected governor "after a campaign in which I pledged myself to bring about a re-organization of your commission, in order that it might function properly and give a square deal to both utility and citizens," their resignations were necessary before that re-organization could be made.

Term Not Near End.
Mr. Poor's term does not expire until February 1925, or a month after Governor Donahey's term expires, and that of Mauller's in February 1927, or more than two years after the executive's.

Both Poor and Mauller stated this evening that they had not yet received the Governor's letter calling for their resignation and consequently they would have nothing to say at this time. It is not expected, however, that they will acquiesce to the Governor's request.

The term of Charles C. Marshall, Democrat, of Sidney, expired last February and Governor Donahey appointed William A. Hopkins, Democrat, of Cincinnati to the position. The Senate, however, has taken no action on the appointment and Marshall still retains the office. The Senate is not expected to confirm Hopkins' appointment.

Governor Willis in 1915 asked for the resignation of certain members of the utilities commission and the state industrial commission but his requests were ignored. Democratic incumbents serving until expiration of their terms.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the stomach, the stomach should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acid and makes it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of this sweetener of the stomach, and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. An antacid, such as Disburated Magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be careful to ask for and take only Disburated Magnesia which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

PUPILS TO WRITE 500 WORD ESSAYS

Every child from Grade 5 to high school age has entered the Hiawatha's wedding feast contest, which has been arranged by the community chorus in co-operation with the school authorities in order to stimulate interest in the musical production, "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," which will feature the big musical program planned by the chorus during the early part of May.

Interest is running high in this contest, according to Mrs. Alan M. Jordan, President of the chorus, as $15 in prizes will be given the children writing the best essays. In addition to this, the essay receiving first prize will be read by the winner to the audience before the oratorio is sung in the festival.

Yesterday all school supervisors received multigraphed synopsis copies of Hiawatha to be distributed among the school children for this contest.

Every child will be asked to write an essay of not more than 500 words summarizing Longfellow's poem, describing some of the characters appearing at the wedding feast as well as giving a prose description of the feast.

The little theater is co-operating with the community chorus in arranging the contest. As part of this co-operation Mrs. Lena Kline Reed will read "The Wedding Feast" before school children in Sciotoville within the prescribed age limits. Mrs. Reed will repeat this reading this afternoon in the high school auditorium for all the school children of Portsmouth.

The best essays will be sent to Prof. Appel not later than April 15 and judges to be selected by him will pick the winning essays. The winning essay will be read on the evening of the musical festival by the author.

Use Natural Gas Only Where It Does Useful Work

Soot on heating surfaces will prevent transfer of heat. Heating surfaces should be kept clean and if soot is deposited, the cause should be found and corrected. Scale or sediment inside of heating surfaces will also prevent transfer of heat.

Heaters should be drained frequently.

Remember that burners should be clean to give best results and should also be adjusted to give short blue flames at all times. Yellow flames deposit soot. If the tips of the flames are too low, the transfer of heat is not efficient.

If the utensil is placed low on the flames so that it touches the pale blue parts, poisonous gases are produced. The best results are obtained when the outer parts of the flame touch the utensil and spread out slightly.

Umbrellas Not Necessary To Protect The New Easter Bonnets, But Winds Will Buffet Them

WASHINGTON, Mar. 30.—A fair Easter but a cold one is the message of the weather experts for the people of the Mississippi river. Umbrellas will not be necessary to protect new Easter bonnets but frigid winds will buffet them.

For the eastern seaboard "continued cold" or "continue cool" is the forecast while fresh cold wave warnings have been issued for Ohio, Kentucky and the northern portion of West Virginia.

Following the passage of a disturbance now over the Gulf of Mexico, the weather bureau says, a great area of high pressure and abnormally cold weather now over the northwest will overspread all sections east of the Mississippi river except southern Florida and unseasonably cold and generally fair weather will prevail Sunday.

Today a marked rise in temperature was reported in the lower Lake region, the Ohio and Middle Mississippi valleys, and the middle and north Atlantic states but at the same time an area of high pressure of great magnitude attended by a cold wave has overspread the Canadian northwest, the northern plains states, the upper Mississippi Valley and the upper Lake region and new low recent temperatures for so late in the season were reported by Duluth and St. Paul, Minn., and Huron, South Dak., with the center of high pressure and low temperatures at Le Pass, Manitoba, where the barometer read 30.88 inches and the temperature was 32 degrees below zero.

TRICKS OF WITCH DOCTORS

Important Personages Among the Wild Tribes of New Guinea Remarkable for Cleverness.

In the New Guinea Islands when a man is ill and has been reduced to a state of delirium, the witch doctor arrives, an old man with matted hair and an exceedingly dirty skin. Around his neck he wears a collection of oddities, consisting of bits of crystal, pointed sticks, human bones, and perhaps some native medicaments. Around his loins he sometimes carries a small bag with a supplementary supply of these valuable adjuncts, and somewhere he is sure to be concealing stones and pieces of glass which he is going to charm out of the body of the sick man, writes R. W. Cilento, in Asia Magazine.

The sorcerer proceeds to examine the patient with elaborate ceremony and then announces to the anxious relatives that it is just as he expected; certain stones have been wished into the man's body by a neighboring magician or some other evil agency. Bending over the sufferer, he begins to mumble long incantations and to rub vigorously. Sometimes he is a skilled masseur, and uses a hot stone wrapped in bark, to knead the sore muscles. By this treatment he frequently relieves the rheumatic pains which accompany so many infections. Some time during the course of his massage, he pulls out one of his stones or fragments of glass, and the sick man, if he be conscious, generally experiences great and immediate relief.

Mrs. Cole Ill

Mrs. Charles Cole of 1120 Findlay street is suffering from a nervous breakdown, the result of worry over the tragic death of her late son, Thomas Cole.

Such deformities as bow-legs and knock-knees are becoming much less frequent owing to the spread of knowledge of hygiene among parents.

Mr. Timmonds Discusses Hospital Drive

At a meeting held at the Hempstead hospital campaign headquarters yesterday S. B. Timmonds, commander of Division "B," said: "We are making a dream come true by the work the Greater Hempstead hospital campaign is doing these days. It is a dream of service and efficiency, of obtaining the proud place of leader among all the hospitals in southern Ohio; a center of clinical research and the pride of Portsmouth. In its campaign, which will begin on April 12th, for the sum of $100,000, to erect a modern general hospital, Portsmouth is taking the first step in the realization of its dreams. It is hoped before many weeks roll around the actual verities in brick, stone, marble and concrete will arise which will indicate the beginning of Portsmouth's general hospital."

"The aim of the Greater Hempstead hospital will be to make the interest of the patient paramount. No other policy will be allowed to interfere in its operation of the institution. Greater service will always be the ideal."

"Rarely if ever do the people of a community realize how heroic and truly wonderful is the service rendered by a hospital to suffering humanity."

Fighters Must Pay The Costs

Charles Ward, East End young man, was fined the costs in Municipal court Friday for engaging in a fight at the Crystal Palace pool room with Herschel Williams last Saturday night. The 35 lbs. assessed against Williams under his plea of guilty was suspended and he will only be required to pay the costs.

At the Kingsway theater, owing to the absence of one of the company, a recent matinee performance had to be abandoned and the audience were informed that their money would be returned. To the amazement of the Hubs in the bar, one of her patrons appeared and calmly asked for the refund of ninepence which he had expended on a lemonade. "But," gasped the astonished girl, "you can't expect your money back—you've had the lemonade." "Ah," said the optimistic one, "but I shouldn't have spent the money if I hadn't come to this matinee!"—London Opinion.

Six Killed Near Columbus

and seriously injured were removed in ambulances and the slightly injured were taken to nearby houses from which they were later removed to hospitals.

Mrs. Hemminger, who was driving the automobile, apparently was unable to see the oncoming train because of a building located at the crossing.

One of the Pullman cars stopped ahead of the locomotive and another had been tossed across the Pennsylvania tracks, probably fifty feet away.

A number of the occupants of the coaches which turned over, were at breakfast in the dining car in the rear of the train when the crash came and were injured.

F. E. Sheldon, of Columbus, resident vice president of the Toledo and Ohio Central Railway, who was on the train, first was reported dead and then injured, but it was finally ascertained that he had only been shaken up.

Mrs. Hemminger was on her way to a farmer to cancel an order for chickens. She then had planned to pick up Mr. Hemminger and they were to drive to Piqua to spend Easter Sunday there with Mr. Hemminger's parents.

Hemminger, who is an attorney, left home early and spent the greater part of the morning in police court, trying a case. He was informed over the telephone of the accident and began a frenzied search of the city morgues. It was an hour or more before he located the body of his wife and saw at one establishment. The body of the little girl was at another.

All trains running over the Big Four lines via Columbus, were being detained over the Hocking Valley lines.

All available wrecking crews were laboring to clear away the wreckage, and according to the general offices here the wreck was expected to be removed late today.

WARREN, O., March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Horace Holbrook, killed in the Big Four wreck near Columbus, was editor of the Western Reserve Democrat, a Warren weekly publication. Mr. Holbrook was about 65 years of age and had lived here for many years. He is survived by a widow.

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—A special train made up at Columbus arrived here shortly before noon with passengers taken off the wrecked train. They were the slightly hurt and uninjured persons bound for points south of Columbus.

Among these were S. Rosenfeld, of Cincinnati; Henry A. Goldsmith, Astoria, Long Island, shaken up and bruised, and Miss F. Kemp, Newport, Ky., slightly shaken up.

Physicians met the train here but their services were not required.

NEW YORK, March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—A statement issued at the offices here of the New York Central Lines today attributed the wreck of Big Four train Number 11 at Columbus, to carelessness on the part of the driver of an automobile which the train struck at a crossing.

"In the engine cab of the wrecked train," the statement said, "in addition to the engineer and fireman were a traveling engineer and a fuel supervisor, so it is scarcely to be believed that the engineer under such conditions would have been going at an excessive rate of speed. The locomotive's bell was ringing and the whistle was sounded for the crossing according to the testimony of witnesses, including the operator who was standing in the doorway of a telegraph office near the crossing and witnessed the wreck."

"The tragic accident is but one more of the sad warnings of the perils involved in automobile drivers coming up to railroad crossings at high speed, failing to have their ears under full control and neglecting to look in both directions and listen before going upon railroad tracks."

Couple Nabbed; Fined

Arrested on statutory charges when the police visited her apartments at 927 Second street late Thursday night, a couple giving the names of Mrs. Mayme Wheeler and E. F. Schaefer, who is proprietor of the Biggs House barber shop, leave the conclusion of a hearing in Municipal court Friday and they were fined $25 and costs and sentenced to jail for 30 days. The jail sentence was later suspended on condition that Mrs. Schaefer, who is proprietor of the Biggs House barber shop, leave the woman's home and stay away.

Motor Bus And Truck Line Bill Much Revised; House May Block It

COLUMBUS, O., March 29.—(By The Associated Press)—The house representatives today was expected to make known its decision as to whether it would occur in the revised motor bus and truck line regulation bill as passed by the senate yesterday or whether the measure would be sent to conference. An attempt to iron out differences of opinion failed to exist.

The Freeman bill, passed by the house last week was merged with the bill of Senator Collier, when it reached the senate and the committee bill which considerably increases taxes imposed upon bus and truck lines as compared with the house bill and makes the basis for license tag fees for all automobiles weight instead of horse-power as is now the case, was approved by the upper house yesterday.

Bus and truck men voiced objection to the new rates and it was said that sentiment in the house was against concurrence in the amendments. The bill would place bus and truck lines under the supervision of the public utilities commission, require them to show certificate of necessity before being permitted to operate and force them to deposit bond or furnish liability insurance to compensate persons in case of injury. The bill would do away with taxes now paid by the inter-city bus lines to various municipalities through which they operate.

The taxes placed upon passenger buses, range from $50 a year for those of not more than seven passenger capacity to $250 for those capable of carrying 24 or more passengers. In cases where the buses operate over regular routes and between fixed termini and from $25 to $150 for those having no fixed routes.

For trucks operating between fixed termini, the rates range from $30 for those of a capacity of not more than one and three-fourths tons to $250 for those of more than three and a half tons capacity.

License tag fees for passenger automobiles, it was believed, would be greatly changed by the new mode of computation, placed in the bill through an amendment of Senator Thomas Gifford, of Lucas county. Slightly increased rates for commercial cars would result. It was believed, although there was little means of comparison.

Both houses were scheduled to meet only briefly today and adjourn for the week-end at noon.

The bill of Representative Buchanan, of Carroll county, which would provide compulsory reading of the Bible in public schools, today was admittedly dead after stirring up

History Of Last Making Is Explained By W. J. Burke At Excelsior Foremen Meeting

Something different was what the program committee planned for the March meeting of the Excelsior Superintendents' and Foremen's Association and that the program arrangements had been placed in competent hands was shown last night when one of the most interesting sessions of the organization was held at the Elks club, where a supper was served at 6:35 after which the program was enjoyed. Each previous meeting was given over to the discussion of factory and shoe making problems but last night the committee promised "something different," and that is what they provided when W. J. Burke, president of the Vulcan Last Company was secured to give a talk on "Last Making." The main address of the evening was made by Mr. Burke although short talks were made by John E. Williams and James W. Bannan.

During the serving of the chicken supper piano selections were rendered by Clyde Zeune. Several vocal numbers were rendered by Alex McIntosh of the Jack Ball Stock Company, who also led the group singing, all joining in singing such favorites as "School Days," "I Want a Girl," "Foggy O'Neal," "Swanee River Moon" and others.

President Paul Dunay presided and after the routine business was disposed of he called upon Mr. Williams for a talk, and he told of how at the last meeting in December the goal was moved ahead and how through persistent efforts and hard work the goal had been reached. He complimented the men on their fine work in meeting the mark set before them and added that the peg is being moved several more notches ahead and that it will take harder work for the goal to be reached. He explained that of the wood, its treatment to prepare it for the last factory and how the difficult finishing touches were put on to make it stand the test of wear and tear it is subjected to in the shoe factory. There was not one of the men present who realized that there was so much work in the making of a last, as a greater part of the work is in securing and treating the wood block.

J. W. Bannan was called upon by to give a talk on business conditions and he reported that the factory is rushed with work and that the shipping department is having difficulty in getting out the many orders on time. He also thanked the men for the record they had made in meeting the mark set and urged them to strive harder in order to reach the advanced peg.

R. Poblet of Havana, Cuba, who has represented the Excelsior factory in Cuba for about ten years, was present last night as a guest, and he was introduced by Mr. Williams. Mr. Poblet who is here placing orders, reports a betterment of business conditions on the island.

Joseph Sisler was admitted to membership in the Association last night. At the April meeting the annual election of officers will be held.

Molla Goes Down Before "Unknown"

CANNES, FRANCE, March 29.—(By The Associated Press)—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory's four weeks tennis campaign along the Riviera ended disastrously today when she met defeat in the women's singles at the hands of the comparatively unknown Mlle. Vlasco. The score was 9-6, 9-7.

Mlle. Vlasco, while unknown outside the Riviera is one of the best young players developed in France.

In the mixed doubles Mlle. Suzanne Longlen and C. F. Aeschliman won from Mrs. Beamish and Count de Graffenried, 6-3, 6-1.

Traveling by air from London to New York in twelve hours is predicted by Major General Sir W. S. Brancker, director of civil aviation.

FOUR LIQUOR VIOLATORS ARE FINED; 14 DENY GUILT; HEARING APRIL 10

Tom Jones, Walter Hayslip, Melvin Smith and Oliver Smith, four of a number of alleged dry law offenders apprehended Thursday by a squad of state prohibition enforcement officers, pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge J. L. Rieck last night. The Smith brothers, who live on the West Side, were fined $500 each for manufacturing liquor while Jones drew $200 for possessing and Hayslip was fined $100 on a similar charge.

Jones and Hayslip arranged to pay and were released but the Smith brothers were sent to jail because of their inability to pay.

Fourteen others taken into custody pleaded not guilty when brought before the magistrate and all were released on bond pending trial on April 10th.

The following men were arrested: Stephen Kichman, Findlay street, possession; Pete Graichen, Findlay street, possession; John (Bull) Davis, Waller street, possession; Oliver Puzier, Waller street, selling and possessing; August Henry, Gallia street, possession; P. F. Hogan, Findlay street, possession; George Jones and George Burgardner, Clay street, possession; Al Reed, Philip Herder and Frank Walters, selling and possessing; and Morris Sizemore, North McGraw, Thomas Jones and W. Hayslip, of

New Boston, on charges of possession. Newt McGraw retained Judge T. C. Beatty to represent him, and the others, except Tom Jones, Hayslip and Sizemore are represented by Attorney Horace Small.

An attorney from the State Prohibition Department at Columbus, will prosecute the cases.

Liquor Freely Used At O. S. U. Social Activities, Charged

COLUMBUS, O., March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Suspension of two boys and two girl students from Ohio State University for drinking, has brought to light the fact that state prohibition and narcotic agents have been conducting investigations of many fraternity houses and drug stores in the university district and downtown restaurants frequented by students.

Many social activities at the university also have been under surveillance, it was stated by inspectors who charge that very few are held without liquor being freely used. Girls as well as men, they say, are violators of the prohibition laws. Assistant Prohibition Director Evans stated that university students who heretofore have escaped arrest in downtown cafes and restaurants when raids were made, on the plea that they would be expelled from the university, if arrested, will be shown no leniency hereafter. He said that not only would such student's names be sent to their parents, but that they would "be arrested and prosecuted, which will mean their expulsion from school."

The inspectors also declared that the students are not choicely in the kind of liquor they drink, the cheapest bootleg brands being consumed freely by both men and women students.

U. B. Choir To Render Cantata Sunday

On Sunday evening at seven o'clock the regular church choir of the First United Brethren church, corner of Seventh and Gay streets, will render Dr. Daniel Protheroe's great Easter musical production "Eastertide."

Dr. Daniel Protheroe will be remembered by Portsmouth music lovers as the adjudicator at the Great Southern Ohio Elsteddoff held at Jackson, Ohio, last fall, when the Portsmouth Community Chorus was awarded the grand prize for chorus work. This work of Dr. Protheroe is considered one of the greatest pieces of modern cantata music and all who are privileged to hear it will be more than pleased with the great dramatic climaxes and telling musical effects produced in depicting our Lord's Passion as well as the joyous strains of the glad Resurrection Morn.

The cantata is divided into two parts. Part one, "The Passion," and part two, "Easter," and the choice of scriptural passages is equally superb with great musical features of the production.

The bass and tenor solos will be taken by Mr. Floyd Smith and Mr. Miles Throckmorton, while the soprano and alto numbers will be rendered by Mrs. P. C. Knost, Miss Ella Carson, Mrs. Eva White, Mrs. W. T. Sowers and Mrs. E. H. Bailey. The large choir of thirty voices will render in splendid fashion the great choruses of the production.

Flogging Mobs Implant Fear In The Hearts Of Their Victims

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Flogging mobs in the community have implanted such fear into the hearts of their victims that it is next to impossible to induce them to appear in the courts, the Jefferson county grand jury reported today. The grand jury called upon victims of flogging mobs to come forward, and give testimony guaranteeing full protection of the courts, but only two victims responded.

One of the cases mentioned by the grand jury report was the whipping of Dr. J. D. Dowling, city and county health officer and attaché of the United States Public Health Service. Numerous witnesses were before the grand jury but no indictments have been returned.

Towns Are Snowed Under

ESCANABA, MICH., March 30.—(By the United Press)—800 line snow plows plunged through ten and fifteen foot snow drifts today in an effort to give relief and communication to towns and villages in the upper eastern peninsula where inhabitants are reported suffering from lack of fuel and food.
Communities in the entire eastern part of the peninsula have been isolated for three days by blizzards, which left railroads and highways blocked according to word here. The snow plow operators expect to get through today.

BUILDING COLLAPSES; VICTIMS DUG OUT

NEW YORK, March 30.—One laborer is known to be dead, ten others are missing and nine seriously injured as the result of the collapse of a building in the course of erection in Eldridge street on the East Side this afternoon. Firemen, ignoring the danger of falling walls, rescued nine persons from the ruins.

Lenine Reported Dying; Military Dictatorship Planned

LONDON, Mar. 30.—Premier Lenine is dying, says a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Stockholm today, quoting the Helsingfors correspondent of the Svenska Dagbladet as telegraphing that the soviet legislation in Helsingfors has received a confidential message from Moscow to that effect. The paralysis in his right arm is spreading, according to the despatch. After his death, the quoted message adds; a military dictatorship will be established headed by Minister of War Trotsky, with four or five associates.

U. S. Senators Plan To Smash More Records

WASHINGTON, Mar. 30.—The army air service announced today that Lieutenants Oakley Kelly and John A. MacReady were preparing to attempt another transcontinental non-stop flight starting this time from New York to San Diego, Calif.

Lieutenants Kelly and MacReady will use the monoplane T-2 for the flight. In this plane the two airmen attempted a flight from San Diego to New York city last November but were forced to land at Indianapolis because of a cracked water jacket on the motor.

The next start will be made from New York, air service officers said, because it will be possible to take off from that point without straining the machine to reach high altitude at the very beginning with a heavy supply of fuel aboard.

"Both pilots of the T-2 and officials of the engineering division at McCook Field," an air service statement said, "are confident that the T-2 can be made to establish the duration record and succeed in the ocean to ocean journey. Should their hopes be fulfilled it will mark an epochal period in the annals of aeronautical achievement. It will mean that at last an engine has been developed that never stops as long as fuel is supplied, and that the experimental mark and the other half at 1,000 kilometer records. If the record trials were being billed in a commercial way, an extraordinary attraction could be announced in that Orville Wright, co-inventor of the airplane, will act as official observer.

Wright confirmed reports today that Lieutenant L. J. Maitland attained an average of 244.97 miles an hour in the speed trials yesterday at Wright Field.

Lieutenant R. L. Maughan, who also flew, set a mark of 240.01 miles an hour. Both marks will be certified by Wright to the National Aeronautic Association.

Bill For Pharmacists

COLUMBUS, O., March 30.—The conspiracy bill, twice defeated in the senate, after having once passed that branch of the assembly, was introduced in the house today by Representative Broadstone, Republican of Green county, as a measure to deal with election frauds such as were uncovered by the special committee of the house which investigated the Pike county elections of last fall. Representative Broadstone was chairman of the Pike county investigating committee.

A bill sponsored in the senate by Senator Jenkins, Lawrence county, would make it a felony punishable by imprisonment for two or more persons to conspire to commit a felony and a misdemeanor punishable by fine to conspire to commit a misdemeanor. Mr. Broadstone said he believed the legislature would pass the bill when members understood its intent and purpose. He said it provided the best method of curbing election frauds.

Riot of Color Attends Simplicity in Design

Even if you don't care for sports you are bound to care for sport clothes this season. Dawes Named Comptroller Of Currency; To Help Farmer

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA., March 30. (By the Associated Press)—Congress having moved just before adjournment this month to assist to a greater degree the agricultural and livestock interests of the country, President Harding, it was said today by members of his vacation party, is giving considerable attention to the farm situation.
The prompt selection of Henry M. Dawes, of Chicago, to be comptroller of the currency, which was announced last night, was interpreted by some of those close to the president, to be an indication of his desire that the government render all possible aid to the farmers and livestock men.
As comptroller of the currency, Mr. Dawes, who is a brother of Charles G. Dawes, a former comptroller, and later budget director, will have supervision of the formation of the agricultural credit corporations, provided for in the recently enacted Capper-Leavelle-Anderson bill.
Pending the time when such credit institutions can begin to function, the war finance corporation will continue to make agricultural and livestock advances and the policies to be pursued by the governmental agency were the subjects of a conference here this week by Fred Starke and the president. Mr. Starke is acting manager of the corporation.

ARTICLES THAT ARE OLD

Chipped Stones, Found in England, Believed to Be Most Ancient of Made Implements.

According to an English antiquary, the oldest manufactured articles in the world are probably some chipped stones found on the Kentish Weald, in England.
Far back, countless centuries before any attempt at civilization, men were chipping stones into tools and weapons.
Knives, axes, hammers, scrapers, spearheads, arrowheads, even awls for piercing skins, and roughly notched saws for cutting bone were made of flint or chert or obsidian—any stone that would chip to a cutting edge and hard enough to stand wear.
Some are clumsy things, some beautiful in design and finish, and their varying workmanship indicates far greater differences between the men who made them than exists between an Egyptian king of 1400 B. C. and an English citizen of this age.
Solutrean "laurel leaves," or "shouldered points"—spearheads from Solutre, in France—are exquisite things, graceful in shape and finished in a manner which would be a credit to any modern craftwork. Yet they were made according to some assertions, over 20,000 years ago.
Earlier still, Mousterian implements from the cave of Le Moustier, varying in shape and size, all have the businesslike wary cutting edge distinctive of their period. Centuries before these the rude Chellean and Streprian implements were made, their unworked butts still showing the natural surface of the stone. And away back beyond them, thousands and thousands of years ago, in the very dawn of human life, were made the "Eoliths" of the Kentish Weald.

Where Up Is Down.

A couple of young Englishmen were trying to write a southern song to fit a vaudeville act for America.
"Now we musn't fonzle like Alky," declared one, "we wrote a song entitled 'Away Down South in Oregon,' and Oregon isn't down south at all."
The next day one of them met an American in the grill and asked him what state he hailed from.
"I came from down in Maine," "Down in Maine?" was asked.
"Down in Maine," the other insisted.
Immediately the youngster bawled to his partner in the lobby: "Hi, there, Percy, I've got our location for a southern song."

After being kept for thirty years without once being used, a horse fire-engine has been superseded in Weymouth by a motor-engine.

Speeders Lose Gasoline Money

A pair of speeders caught by the police were penalized when they appeared in Municipal court Friday and admitted guilt. They were Harry Scott, Scitoville, and E. E. Campbell, 1530 Grandview avenue, and they were fined $5 and costs each.
The case of H. A. Clites, 1804 Highland avenue, arrested last night for a similar offense, was continued until next Monday for hearing.

WHEAT STILL UNSIGNED

NEW YORK, Mar. 30.—Zach Wheat, captain and veteran outfielder of the Brooklyn Nationals, has rejected his 1923 contract, according to reports today from the team's training camp at Clearwater, Florida.
Wheat has been at camp several days, but it was said a series of conferences failed to break a deadlock over the salary question between the player and President Charles H. Ebbets.

Wheat was reported to be holding out for $10,000, while Ebbets was quoted as saying that unless the player signed at the club's figure, he need not accompany the Dodgers north.

Donahy Make Appointment

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 30.—Governor Donahy today announced the appointment of James T. Williams of East Liverpool, as a member of the state dental board to succeed Dr. J. E. McKinnon of Marietta, also the appointment of F. H. King of Van Wert as a member of the state board of pharmacy. William and King are Democrats.

Social Classification.

A Kentucky negro who had been in the city only about two months got a job as hall boy in an apartment house that has seen better days; a choice building once, but one that went the way with many others during the housing shortage and was cut up into sleeping cubicles by absentee landlords with an eye to fat weekly intake.
A caller stopped the other day to see a man living in the house. The hall boy responded that the person sought was not in.
"Well, take me up to his place, anyhow," said the caller.
"Der ain't no use takin' you up," expostulated the hall boy. "I done told you, mister, dat gentleman is gone out."
"Take me up," persisted the visitor. "I'll leave a message with his folks."
"Mister," replied the youth with an air that dismissed the question for all time, "it won't do no good. Der ain't no folks lives here at all. Jes' roomers."

2 Republicans Break Rank

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 30.—Notwithstanding rumors that a Republican majority wavering in its attitude, of ignoring the recommendations of Governor Donahy, only two members of the controlling party in the house of representatives today broke from their leaders and voted with the minority to bring bills embodying the governor's recommendations to a vote in the lower house. The two republicans were Brashers of Hocking and Sullivan of Mahoning. The twenty-seven Democrats voted solidly for the proposition.
Majority Leader Dunn stated that so expected to place at least one of the governor's bills in the calendar, that providing for a non-paribus parole and pardon board. He said he did not know whether other administration bills would be brought to a vote.

Portsmouth has a new firm in the form of an engineering and general contracting partnership entered into by Lee V. McCabe and Ralph S. Proctor, both of Chicago, who have tracting and feel that Portsmouth and vicinity offer a splendid field. The men will work in co-operation with architects, their business being engineering and constructing. Highway bridge construction also comes under their line.

Mr. McCabe is a graduate of the University of Illinois and left a big contracting firm in Chicago to engage in business here. Mr. Proctor is a graduate of Purdue University and for six years was in charge of the Illinois Central structural work.

This Season's Hat Must Have An Individual Touch Of Your Own

One need say very little about spring millinery. It speaks so eloquently for itself. "Buy me" is the message of nearly every little bonnet. Big hats, little hats, plain ones and fancy — they're all represented in the Easter display. There's only one requirement — this season's hat must be becoming and must have some individual little touch that makes it YOUR hat. For street wear you probably want little brim and little trimming. Your picture hat may go as far as it likes with both. These fashions from Paris give an idea of what will be seen this spring.

Kidnap Proprietor Then Burn His Business Place

CHICAGO, Mar. 30.—(By the United Press.) Fred Weiner, proprietor of the Hotel Cleaning Works and Fred Weiner, a night watchman, were kidnaped and the establishment set on fire by five men today as a part of a price war.

About $25,000 damage was caused by the fire. Weiner told police that he found and engaged him and burned the clothing on the tables with inflammable acids and later igniting it. Three both of them into an auto. After driving a mile the incendiaries dropped both victims into the street. Weiner said an association in his trade had been forcing him to adjust prices. He was kidnapped and beaten by rivals a few days ago in connection with the same controversy.

Mr. Lyons started life as a poor boy but by hard labor and good business judgment he accumulated considerable property. He was a splendid citizen, honest and upright and possessing many good traits of the men of early days. He was not affiliated with any order or church, but in his later years he claimed to have made peace with His Maker and in his last illness gave testimony to that.

The funeral was held from the U. R. Church with Rev. Mr. Smith in charge and burial was made in Carmel cemetery.

Noted Bandit Is Killed

His admission of membership in the Klan was made during an interview by telephone.

Chooses Death Rather Than Return To Small Town And Husband

NEW YORK, Mar. 30.—Maria Albrecht, widow of Henry Barnes of Waldo and Marion, Ohio, today made two attempts to move death—the alternative she chose in preference to returning to her husband and a small town. She was born and raised in New York.

In the crowded ferry station at St. George, Staten Island, she drank poison and sank to the floor, meaning to her first, but when she jumped to her feet, ran toward and as it left the ship, attempted to jump over the side. Deck hands restrained her and when the ferry reached Manhattan she was taken to a hospital, where it was said she had a chance to recover.

"I can't go back; I'll die first," she murmured. The woman's mother, showed a letter her daughter had written from Waldo. She wrote that she missed the light, the movies, the thrills of life in the streets and was frightened and awed by the strange, silent home into which she had been taken in Ohio. And she thought she would die if she did not get back to the "great city."

Mrs. Albrecht said that the pair met at the New York Aquarium when Barnes was a soldier stationed at Governor's Island. Then they disappeared and later she heard from Maria in Waldo, Ohio. Henry's home town.

Mrs. Albrecht said, "Henry got out of the army last week and went to Marion. He wanted my girl to go there and she seemed willing because that was a bigger town than Waldo."

"This morning she said to me, 'Mum, I can't go back there; can't I get a divorce?' and I told her that when folks were married they should stay married. So she said she would get a job and stay here."

NEW ATTACK On Benton

CINCINNATI, O., Mar. 30.—The tip is out that the case of Fletcher J. C. (Rube) Benton is not yet over and that a new line of attack will be tried by six national league clubs which voted not to let Benton come back to the national league. The Cincinnati Times Star says today: According to the story, the six club presidents will register their objection when John A. Heydler, president of the league of officially pronounces Benton's contract. This objection will be based on the idea that Benton is "un-American" and will, if definitely upheld, force either a special session of the league or throw the case again upon the shoulders of Judge Landis.

To back this objection it is said the six objecting clubs will protest each and every game in which Benton pitches against their players.

Blair Meets A Rugged Boy In Early Howell

Ashland Minute Men Win Close One From Scouts

By the narrowest possible margin, the Ashland Minute Men, champions of the Ashland Church Basketball League, last night won from the best Scout five Portsmouth could put on the floor, the game being staged in the P. J. S. gym before a good-sized crowd, ended 25 to 24 with the visitors shooting the winning basket in the last few seconds of play.

The Ashland quintet is composed of older players than the local Scout team, but that did not keep the locals from making a splendid showing. The visiting five started their scoring early in the game before the Scouts could get their defense perfected. After the guards finally found their men the Ashland basket tossers found it hard to get free to take a shot at the iron hoop and net.

The first half ended 15 to 10 in favor of the Minute Men, but in the second the local players started their scoring machine and within a few minutes were ahead of the visitors. First one side and then another made a basket and would be in the lead. The Scouts were leading 24 to 23 until the last few seconds.

When a basket from a difficult angle gave the visitors two more points and also the game for the locals could not drop another through the hoop before the final whistle sounded. The contest proved fast and clean, very few personal fouls being called. Plans are being made to have the teams play a return game in Ashland next Thursday night.

The lineups and summary: Ashland: Geiger, R. F., Davies, S., Crainell, 1; Broadbeck, 3; Phillips, 5; Flowers, 2. Total Goals—Davies, 1; Broadbeck, 4; Phillips, 3; Flowers, 2. Referee—H. Fortner.

Local Boy Wins Naval Bowling Honor

That Raymond Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lewis is winning new laurels in bowling circles in Uncle Sam's Navy is evidenced by the following taken from a Naval Journal published in Norfolk, Va.:

In the first month's competition for the monthly prizes on the Navy Y. M. C. A. bowling alleys, Norfolk, Raymond Lewis, of the Pharmacists' Mates' School, won the first prize medal for rolling the highest string at ten-pins with a total of 243. Brundage, of the Hospital Station, was second with 226.

Green, Naval Training Station, captured the silver medal for the highest string rolled in duckpins, with 142, while Lewis, who won the first ten-pin prize, was a close second with 141.

ELKS TO INSTALL NEW OFFICERS APRIL 11

The Portsmouth Lodge of B. P. O. Elks No. 154, will hold its annual installation of officers Wednesday evening, April 11. A social session will follow the installation exercises.

Lewis Calls Meeting Of Players Tonight

Otha Lewis, star pitcher of Gabe's All Stars, who is recruiting players for a team which will represent Portsmouth on the diamond this summer, has called a meeting at seven o'clock tonight in Room 18, Krieger Building. The following players, and any others anxious to make the team are urged to be present: Stillwell, Woods, Ellessor, Donahoe, Tatum and Winnebrenner. Yankees—P. Williams, Bruce, Peters, Dr. Gault and J. H. Finney.

Heilman In Shape

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 30.—American League patrons are to be treated to a real surprise when they look over Harry Heilman, hard-hitting right fielder of the Tigers.

Always a great ball player, Heilman appeared to be handicapped by a goodly number of pounds of superfluous weight. This seemed to affect his fielding and also slow him up a trifle.

Last year Heilman became a handball enthusiast. He played at the game all winter, making his home in Detroit where handball is a popular indoor sport. There are those who say the big right fielder has few superiors at the game.

A daily workout at handball, plus some cure to his diet, has worked wonders with Heilman physically. At present the big fellow is lighter than at any time during his major league career.

This time a year ago Heilman tipped the scales at 230. His present weight is an even 200. The loss of the 30 pounds is reflecting itself in Heilman's work. There is more grace to his batting swing, he is covering far more ground than ever before and steps down to first base with the best of them.

Strike-Out Wonder

BRADENTOWN, Fla., March 30.—"The experts in discussing my club are overlooking one of the best bats among my recruits Fitcher Fred Wigington," says Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Wigington is a big husky right hander, who pitched for Hastings in the Nebraska State League last year. With a club that finished third in the first half of the pennant race, with an even 500 mark, and fifth in the second half with a percentage of .377, Wigington managed to win 18 and lose 11, for an average of .621, far in advance of his club's record.

However, the most remarkable feature of Wigington's work was his strike-out record. Working in 254 innings, he struck out 260 men, an average of better than a man an inning, a truly remarkable performance, that stands out as the banner feat of the year in that respect in organized ball.

SOUND FARM CREDITS

GOVERNMENT-FINANCED credit banks for farmers have been looked upon askance by old-fashioned bankers who feared the fundamental principle of sound finance would be endangered. These fears were stimulated by arguments put forward by numerous agrarian senators and representatives in pressing for easier credit conditions for the agricultural population. They appeared less concerned about the wisdom and safety of loans demanded by producers of food stuffs than about providing them with money. This was the basis of much of the opposition to farmers' relief legislation enacted by the last congress. It seems, though, that business principles are to govern administration of the new credit banks, which is best for the farmers.

Chairman Lobdell of the federal farm loan board, which will administer the intermediate credit banks, about ready for business, says that, "it is the ambition of those charged with the administration of the new law to render maximum service, but elemental safety must be the first consideration." This is as it should be. Were unwarranted risks taken on the theory that they may be justified by the intent of congress to afford credit where it could not reasonably be demanded of private bankers, the end of the new system would be in sight. The credit banks are not designed to make loans to those not deserving of them but to those whose legitimate requirements cannot reasonably be met by private banks out of their ordinary resources.

This new credit system is in the nature of an experiment. The managers will of necessity feel their way carefully for a time, which may result in disappointments to some prospective borrowers. But it is essential that it be substantially founded if it is to be successful. Hence it is serving the interest of farmers in the highest degree to make the beginnings on a basis of assured safety.

THE SHINING MARK

THIS week marks the fifty-sixth anniversary of the founding of the first building association in Portsmouth.

Its founders, all sturdy and solid and thrifty immigrants from Germany, builded wisely and, no doubt, better than even their wisdom foresaw. Portsmouth has become in the half century since a distinctively building association town. From the one association and its start with a few hundred dollars, it has now five building and loan companies with resources around eight millions. More than that, through these associations and companies, it has become distinctly a home owning town, few other places being able to compare with it in the number of citizens who live "under their own vine and fig tree."

These associations are constantly advancing in their constructive activities and each week from forty to fifty loans are made to persons, who otherwise could not become home owners.

These building associations are not operated for the gain of any particular individual, but the great bulk of their profits go to thousands of stockholders and borrowers. There is no other business that is conducted at so small a percentage of cost. No official, except the secretary gets a salary worth mentioning. Practically all expense is incurred in paying him and such clerical help and rent as is necessary to proper and economical conduct.

Strange to say, despite the fact that building companies are not for individual profit, in the face of the indisputable fact that they are the first agencies in home owning and stand without superior in promoting thrift and savings, there is, in some quarters an invisible opposition to them. This is manifested at every meeting of the assembly, where bills are offered, which, if passed, would put everyone of them out of business.

MAY NOT BE TRUE

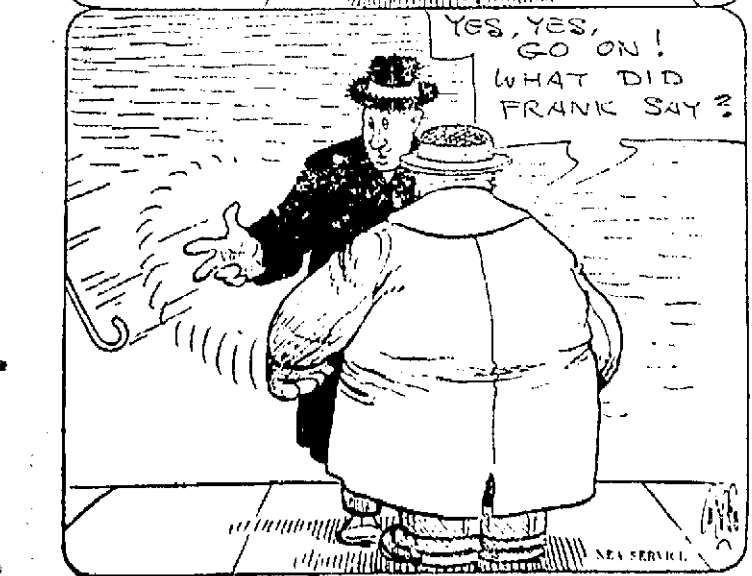

THERE is no greater deterrent to charity than the conviction that in exercising it, one has been played for an easy mark.

It isn't altogether sure that America must accept this humiliation in her magnificent bounty to Russia, but a news item from Riga, on the Baltic sea, that on the very day twenty-four cars of American wheat for the relief of alleged starving Russians were coming in, sixty cars of Russian wheat were going out on export, rather squints that way.

To be sure Russia must have money to buy some things and to get that she must sell such things as she can produce, but the incident, from its very striking contrast, accentuates the suspicion that our bounty has been misplaced. Let us hope that it is not really so, but at the same time there is no denying that it has, anyway been misplaced. It is an absurdity to transport wheat some five thousand miles to a country, for sweet charity's sake, while that country has for sale, at the very point we send our's, wheat of its own of thrice the quantity. The sensible, as well as the best course, would be to buy the Russian wheat.

NEW YORK, March 30—Thoughts while strolling around New York: The ladies will soon have to mount stilts to wear their earrings, Gil Boag, the Cabaret King. There's a sign, "Boarders Took In." Plumes push cars and owners with rings in their ears. A street of one room and kitchenette apartments.

Why do all optical clerks wear glasses? The puff sleeve is coming back. Women of Broadway going to pawn-shops with their furs. If there has to be a fire, I'd like to see one in a busy hair dressing shop. Wilton Lackaye, the actor.

Winter over—and nary a sleigh-ride. Why do they pronounce Greenwich, Greenwich, in New York? Trompers are rounding in from one night stands. And now for the sunny crisis of Broadway. Knocking Leo, Jake and Flo.

Three leafless men, sunning themselves in Bryant Park. The penny ice cream men launch their summer campaign. That store has had a "Fire Sale" for six years.

A French lingerie shop and all the clerks are men. There's the cafe where all the steeple-jacks gather. They're showing bathing suits already. Pink-footed pigeons strutting about street traffic towers Avery Hopwood, the bed-room dramatist.

Crowds listening to a fortune-teller's parrot recite the Cone formula. And she also has a white-throated sparrow. Wish I could take an interest in gardening. Last season I bought a ten cent packet of aster seeds and a hoe. And lost them on my way home.

We may josh the Dabbitts, but they get the most out of life. Old sandwich men with rum-dyed noses. Bouillon shops for busy shoppers. I'll try a cup.

Little Florence Mills, the sophisticated comedienne, who came out of Harlem and reined with increasing furor along Broadway, has taken her group of dusky belles to London to appear at the Pavilion. When she returns she will be installed in a supper club being built for her in the Fifties. In London they call her "The American Blackbird." This is not a fitting description. Miss Mills is a light tan, or, in her own circles, "a high roller." She has straight hair, a straight, thin, slightly upturned nose, and teeth that would be the despair of any dentist. She romps about like a boyden and her voice is of a hybrid variety that would

THERE'S AT LEAST ONE IN EVERY OFFICE — BY BRIGGS

Literary Individual

A property man in a London cinema studio appeared carrying an iron—not a curling iron, but an ironing iron.

"What on earth is that for?" he was asked.

"Why," was the reply, "don't the script say Carter meets Flora and presses his suit?"

His Defense

"Now, here," said the agent, "is a fine farm of 160 acres of land in a fine district, and—"

"Why do you say 'acres of land'?" interrupted the fussy customer.

"What kind of acres are there except of land?"

"Well," said the agent, "I once got into a lot of trouble for selling a stranger 160 acres of water, and now I'm taking no chances."—Kansas City Star.

Sorta Watch Dog

Wise Jottings

If one doesn't care for sports, environment won't help.

All reporters, in time, become expert in recognizing bunk.

No man is as dangerous as he thinks some woman thinks he is.

You may lead a fool to talk, but you cannot make him think.

Every worthless man thinks that he would make good as a critic.

Life is transfigured in the soft and tender light of love.

Laughing at an incomprehensible joke deceives no one.

A man who enjoys "kidding" never knows when to quit.

Losing Weight—In Butter

"You don't look as fat as you were."

"Well, I lost two pounds the other day."

"Dear, dear."

"Yes, it was dear. I left a parcel of butter on the train rack."

A Fellow Sufferer

Binks—You and Smith seem to be great friends. You must have a great deal to talk about.

Jinx—Yes, we have a lot in common.

Binks—Oh, I forgot: you belong to the same club.

Jinx—No, that isn't it. Both of us married a widow.

Observing Kid

Little Bess—Mama, do dogs get married?

Mother—Certainly not, dear.

Little Bess—Then what right has Prince to growl at Frankie when they're eating breakfast?—Boston Transcript.

It was a wintry day and Gussie, age three, and her aunt had driven to the store. The little girl was picked up by a clerk and placed in a chair by the stove, and her aunt began loosening the many wrappings of the child.
